ENDEAVORERS UP EARLY
AT WORSHIP AT 6:30 A. M.

READY FOR HOME AGAIN. TWO FAIR DELEGATES TO CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION: (LEFT TO RIGHT) MISS ROSE LANG OF FORTUNA AND MISS ELSA MILOTTE OF EUREKA.

DEMOCRATS RALLY HENRY IS SPEAKER WHITNEY IS JILTED

Women Give Beach Picnic, at Which Candidates Make Speeches.

Good Democrats from all over the county of Alameda gathered at Suri Beach Park today to listen to a long program, including speakers from various parts of the state who aspire to fill virtually every office within the gift of the people at the coming election.

Scheduled for an all-day session, participants were late in arriving. Officers of the Women's Democratic Club of Alameda county, including the president, Mrs. Edgar L. Ormsby, were among the first on the scene to extend welcoming hands to arrivals, regardless of political parties.

The very first candidate to appear was Edward White, who aspires to be the next democratic governor of California. White is a native son of San Francisco, where he was born in 1851. He is a brother of the late United States Senator Steven M. White, and makes his home in the vicinity of Watsonville, where he is interested in farming.

WAS CANDIDATE BEFORE.

His chief political distinction lies in the fact that he was the first candidate for governor of California on the workingmen's party ticket. White improved the golden hours by getting acquainted with early arrivals while the dilatory candidates were on their way. He was the busy bee gathering honey while his adversaries dabbled in the way. He made the most of the opportunity by giving out cards with a brief summary of his platform, which includes "opposition to all freak and useless legislation."

Mrs. N. E. Davidson was another good Democrat early on the scene. Mrs. Davidson has been county superintendent of the schools of Kings County for some years. She now seeks nomination by the Democrats for state superintendent of public instruction. She, too, had her platform defined on a neatly printed card bearing her name.

John B. Curtin of Sonoma, Tuolumne county, state senator, wants to be governor and was billed to speak today. So was Judge Griffin of Tuolumne county and Andrew Caminetti of Calaveras, but neither of these politicians came.

China Will Request New Five-Power Loan

LONDON, July 11.—A Peking dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says that China is about to apply to the bankers of the Five Power group for another loan of $100,000,000.

Addresses the State Young People's Societies at Annual Convention.

The following officers were elected this morning to serve in the State Christian Endeavor Association for the coming year:

President, Curtis P. Rankin of Santa Ana.

Vice-Presidents—Samuel H. Lonsdale of Fresno.

Vice-President, A. C. King of San Diego.

Vice-President, Ralph H. Warren of Eureka.

General Secretary, Harry G. Benton of Sacramento.

Corresponding Secretary, Lou M. Minter of Santa Ana.

Treasurer, Robert Rogers of Stockton.

Intermediate Leader, Miss Billian Waghorn of Redlands.

Quiet Hour Leader, Harry Walker of Genary.

Missionary Leader, Miss Alice Austin of Redlands.

Primer Legion Leader, Miss G. Louise Flax of Davis.

Evangelistic Leader, Harry C. Allen of San Francisco.

Citizenship and Temperance Leader, J. E. White of San Francisco.

Floating Leader, Mrs. H. W. Chapman of Berkeley.

Intemperate Leader, Clara P. Haessler of Los Angeles.

The nominating committee was composed of G. L. Atting, Harry C. Allen, George F. Casey, L. H. Ramsdale, Hema Ries and W. B. Robbins.

The State Christian Endeavorers were abroad early this morning. Messages were delivered by Dr. Royal J. Dye of Bolinas Africa at the Volunteers' quiet hour at 6:30 o'clock in the First Methodist Episcopal church, where a large delegation of members of the State Christian Endeavor convention gathered for prayer.

Immediately after the services the Bible students, teachers and lay delegates joined in Bible study in Piedmont pavilion, where Dr. H. O. Breeden conducted the lessons.

A conference followed in the denominational churches and in the pavilion. The convention will close tomorrow night.

With a song service, led by Prof. L. E. Northern, the member sessions were resumed in the convention hall this morning. Rev. Dr. L. A. McAfee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Berkeley, spoke upon "The Christian Endeavor." Miss Ethel Brunk of Berkeley and Miss Viola O. Rich of Red Bluff sang solos. Talks were given by Paul H. Goss, who spoke on "The Endeavorer's Atonement" and Leon V. Shaw gave Peggy Lundeen, Actress, Drops Millionaire and Tells Connie Mack.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—"Love Watches" sounds all right for the name of a play. But it isn't so. Love bumps!

At least that's been Parker Whitney's experience. The young clubman and capitalist, whose recent divorce case and more recent trial on charges preferred by Genevieve Hannan were followed by the announcement that he was to marry Peggy Lundeen, the actress, now has a broken engagement also to his credit.

"If that is all you think of me it is all off. Good-bye, Peggy."

That's the message that spoiled Whitney's romance. The wedding was to have taken place in a few days, according to the arrangements. Miss Lundeen was to have come to San Francisco. Instead she has stayed in New York.

It was on hard iron dollars that the arrangements hatched, according to friends of the angry Miss Lundeen. She wired her fiancé for money for the ticket, luncheon on the way out and some little expenses. Whitney, it is declared, couldn't spare the cash. Several messages relayed back and forth and Miss Lundeen insisted on having her expenses paid at her own wedding. They weren't, she says. Now it's all off.

Miss Lundeen last night showed her telegram at a cafe party in which were Connie Mack, the ball player; John Burton, capitalist; Charley McCarthy, the horseman, and several other New York celebrities, according to news from that city.

Cupid's all right—but not cupidry, she says.

Train Plunges Into Fire; Three Killed

TACOMA, Wash., July 11.—C. A. Westcott, a switchman, is dead, Engineer Joe Kent seriously burned, and an unknown man is missing as the result of a fire that destroyed the Bismarck Lumber Company's mill and the T. E. Conly mill at Bismarck, a suburb of Tacoma, last night.

In attempting to haul some freight cars out of the danger zone, a Chicago, Et. off the track into the fire. The track had become warped by the heat and the engine toppled over into the flame, the switchman meeting a horrible death.

The fire started in the T. E. Conly mill and spread to the big Bismarck mill. Both were completely destroyed at a total estimated loss of $125,000. Fifty 3,000,000 feet of lumber at the Bismarck mill was destroyed.

Woman Is Shot by Boy

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING ON FARM

"Boom!" Cried Lad in Play, as He Pulled Trigger

"Didn't Know It Was Loaded," Victim May Die

Mrs. Cora V. Lessing, housekeeper for Frank Andrada at the Stockton ranch in Upper Fruitvale, is lying at the Providence Hospital at the point of death as the result of having been accidentally shot by the 11-year-old son of Andrada yesterday. The boy was playing with a .22-caliber rifle and was unaware that the weapon was loaded.

With his brother Tony, who is 10 years old, young Frank Andrada had invaded a clothes closet in which his brother George, aged 13, had locked his rifle away. The boys took the gun into the yard where they amused themselves playing soldier for a while. Mrs. Lessing came to the door of the ranch house and the boy raised the rifle to his shoulder and leveled it at her.

"Boom!" he said, and pulled the trigger. The bullet struck her in the mouth, penetrated through the roof of the mouth and lodged in the rear of the base of the skull.

DIDN'T KNOW 'T WAS LOADED.

"She did not fall but the blood came out of her mouth," the boy told the police who were sent to investigate the matter. "I did not know the gun was loaded and I ran as fast as I could and called for help."

John R. Pavier, a ranch hand, summoned Dr. L. F. Herriek and the woman was removed to the Providence Hospital. It was reported this morning that she was still in a precarious condition and that the chances for her recovery are extremely light.

NO CORSETS YET FOR MAN, BUT SUIT MUST FIT FORM

ATLANTIC CITY, July 11.—American men who prefer to follow fashion's decree will wear suits of the English or form-fitting models this fall and winter, according to the standards approved today at the opening session of the National Association of Manufacturers Convention. The opinion of all the delegates was unanimous in approval of the form-fitting styles, and their decrees are accepted without question by most of the leading clothing manufacturers.

Overcoats will have the "French back," and will be double-breasted button through variety.

The balmacaen, so popular last season, also was improved, and with slight modifications will again be worn this fall.

Coats are to be single-breasted, cut in very snugly at the waist line, and just a trifle shorter than last season, with soft roll lapels and three buttons.

Trousers are to be shapely and of medium width.

Several delegates were of the opinion that the popularity of the new dance was responsible for the demand for form-fitting clothing.

HUERTA TO RESIGN?

Diplomats Hear He Will Quit in Favor of New Foreign Affairs Minister.

BULLETIN.

SALTILLO, Mexico, July 11.—General Carranza, the Constitutional leader, issued a statement here today, reiterating his intention of carrying out the plan of Guadalupe. He announced:

"I shall continue to struggle to establish peace throughout the republic as soon as possible, and will immediately thereafter call elections which will result in the re-establishment of Constitutional order in Mexico."

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Information was received from Mexico City by diplomats here today saying General Huerta would resign within two or three days in favor of Francisco Carbajal, newly appointed Minister of Foreign Affairs.

It was learned that the appointment of Carbajal, who took office yesterday, in part or a general program by which it is hoped to make peace with the Constitutionalists. The Huerta delegates to the conference are understood to have been awaiting this movement for several days. Carbajal has long been a member of the Supreme Court of Mexico, and on May 31 last was elected Chief Justice.

Realizing that the Constitutionalists' generals would disapprove the plan for peace conferences with representatives of General Huerta, as proposed by the mediators, because they did not wish to have dealings in any form with Huerta, the suggestion was made to the Huerta group that another man be placed in power with whom the Constitutionalists might feel disposed to treat.

Steamer on Rocks; Passengers Landed

ST. JOHNS, N. F., July 11.—All of the passengers on the coastal steamer Invermore, which struck on the rocks near Brig Harbor Point and the Labrador coast last night, were landed safely today. Messages received here from the scene of the wreck said that the steamer filled rapidly after striking and was today resting on the rocks with only her top deck above water.

The Invermore struck when trying to avoid the heavy ice north of the Strait of Belle Isle. She left here July 4 to go as far north as the ice would permit. She carried a heavy freight and many passengers, most of them Labrador fishermen and planters who were bound north for the summer.

The steamer Kyle with divers and wrecking gear was sent from here for Brig Harbor today, as the officers of the Invermore said that there was some hope of refloating the vessel.

Brig Harbor point is on the north side of Hamilton Inlet, a little south of the fifty-fifth parallel of latitude and about 275 miles north of Belle Isle.

Police on Guard Over Anarchists' Services

NEW YORK, July 11.—Patrolmen in every police station in Manhattan were held in readiness today for duty in Union Square, where the Anti-Militarist League, the Mother Earth Association and anarchists planned to hold a memorial service for the three men killed in a bomb explosion a week ago.

The proposed funeral procession today in honor of Arthur Carron, Carl Hansen and Charles Berg, the victims of the bomb explosion, was definitely abandoned last night after Mayor Mitchell announced that no public parade would be tolerated.

Mrs. Carman Goes Over Testimony of Murder

MINEOLA, N. Y., July 11.—Mrs. Florence Conklin Carman, charged with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey, was engaged today in going over the testimony given at the coroner's inquest, with her attorney, George M. Leavitt. Mrs. Carman has aided him considerably, her attorney said, in analyzing the testimony which caused her arrest.

EDUCATOR'S WIFE ASKS DIVORCE

Berated on Wedding Day, Charges Society Woman

Mrs. Frances Janson Declares She Had to Support Self

Now comes Mrs. Frances Janson, society leader, wife of John H. Janson, 2323 Cragmont avenue, Berkeley, and owner of a Napa business college, into the Superior Court complaining as follows:

That her husband would not take her to the opening baseball game in San Francisco, telling her that she only wanted to go where there were a lot of men.

That he berated her on their wedding day when a party of young people gathered in their home to congratulate them.

That he threw two half-dollars at her so that she might "go on a vacation."

That he was so penurious in providing for his family that she had to bring up their daughter on "artificial food," causing her to be ill at the age of 2 years, and that he then demurred at hospital bills.

That one night he quarreled, said he was going to leave, put on his clothes and left the house only to "quietly" return an hour later and crawl into bed.

All these things are recited by Mrs. Janson, who wants a divorce on the grounds of alleged cruelty, non-support and desertion.

The couple were married in Napa in September, 1908, and have a daughter, Lucile Charlotte Janson, 4 years of age. They separated last Thursday and Mrs. Janson went immediately to Attorney Redmond C. Staats, whom she retained to get a divorce for her.

INTERRUPTED DINNER.

Janson, besides conducting his business college in Napa, is engaged in the real estate business about the bay, his wife says.

He forced her to get out and support herself, she declared, and the other evening, when she went out to dinner with one of the members of the firm by which she is employed, her husband entered the place twice, causing her humiliation.

For some time following their marriage Mrs. Janson was engaged as a teacher in the business college, but was forced to give up her work upon the advice of her physician. Later she took up other employment for her support and that of her child.

In addition to her other grievances Mrs. Janson fears that her husband will kidnap the little girl and she has obtained in the Superior Court an order restraining her husband from interfering with the child. Plaintiff asks for $25 a month support for the daughter, but no alimony.

Woman Seeks Release From Asylum at Napa

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Declaring that her plight is not due to insanity but to hypnotism and accusing a mysterious "Devil Man" of reducing her nervous system to the state in which it is, Mrs. Pauline E. Courlander, formerly of 173 Twenty-third street, and recently placed in the Napa State Hospital, has started action to gain a legal ease from the institution. Declaring that she was placed in the asylum by mistake, she has appealed to Sam Leake, 605 Crocker Building, in an effort to enlist his aid.

Mrs. Courlander said that she believed him to be a Russian tailor who is versed in hypnotism. Mrs. H. Enold, with whom the woman lived previous to her commitment, bears out her assertions. The matter is being investigated.

Death Valley Railroad Seeking Funds for Completion of Construction.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—In order to provide for the completion of the Death Valley Railroad Company, a corporation in which F. M. Smith, the Oakland millionaire, is heavily interested, application was made today to the railroad commission for permission to sell bonds and stocks so that approximately $30,000 may be realized. The papers were filed by W. R. Alberger of Oakland, vice-president of the company. The corporation asks for authority to issue and sell 135 of its authorized bonds at $100 each, and to sell $25,000 worth of capital stock at par. The commission previously authorized an issue of 473 bonds and $75,000 worth of capital stock to provide $281,010.20, the original estimated cost of the road. It was stated at today's application that these funds have been insufficient on account of the excessive cost of construction in Death valley.

BOAT WITH BUOY AND SINKS

Men and Women Rescued by a Slight Margin

Oakland and Berkeley People Have Narrow Escape

Racing before a heavy tide, with a party of pleasure seekers at the wheel, the H. W. Davis yacht, one of the largest vessels in the Oakland Yacht Club Fleet, crashed into a half-submerged buoy near Vallejo last night, the party aboard escaping death by only the narrowest margin. Launches, hearing the calls of distress, rescued the passengers of the vessel just before she sank, filled with water through a great hole staved into her sides by the impact.

The yacht, owned by H. W. Davis, 2227 Parker street, Berkeley, was returning from a day's outing near Vallejo, and was speeding toward Mare Island, in the straits, at the time of the accident.

The passengers of the yacht, saved by navy yard launches, were Barney Butler of Berkeley and Mr. and Mrs. Choum, all of Oakland. They were rescued from the yacht as she wallowed in the trough of the waves before going under. Planking along the entire bottom of the vessel was torn off by the impact with the buoy. Davis and Butler succeeded in getting a small row boat off the yacht, and approaching the Vallejo Yacht Club, where they called for aid.

Commodore Denmore and Captain Seterquist of the Vallejo Club, with several other members, hurried in launches to the scene of the accident. The yacht was later hauled up and taken to the yards for repairs.

The buoy was one of several placed in the straits to mark soundings. The small craft, racing through the water in the dead of night, did not locate the mark. The vessel was proceeding along the straits when the accident occurred.

NAME AND FORTUNE

Miss L. D. Lambert Legally Adopts Twin Foundlings, Alva and Alma.

Alva and Alma Williams, pretty 5-year-old twin sisters had their name changed to Lambert today and at the same time became heiresses of Miss Lavina D. Lambert, a wealthy woman physician of 1502 Eighth avenue, East Oakland. Dr. Lambert was granted adoption papers for the two girls by Superior Judge W. H. Donahue following an investigation of the case by the authorities. The mother of the children died several years ago and later they were deserted by the father for whom futile search has been made by charitable organizations.

Dr. Lambert, in appearing before Judge Donahue this morning told the court that she desired to adopt the twins for four reasons, namely: her love for children, that she might do something for humanity, for companionship and that she might train and educate them and make them her legal heirs.

"You are making a noble sacrifice," said Judge Donahue at the conclusion of the proceedings. "With two such pretty and well-mannered little girls in your household you should be a happy woman indeed. I am sure that they could not be placed in better hands than yours. I trust that they will grow up to be good women and that they will in that living and cheerful way repay you for what you have done for them."

The twins were first taken care of by the Native Sons after their abandonment but for the last year Dr. Lambert has made a home for them in her household. She became so attached to them that as soon as possible under the law she adopted them as her own.

They will be known as Ray and Sidney Lambert.

Progressives Bombard Colonel With Advice

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 11.—Protests from Progressive leaders from all over the country against the move toward Colonel Roosevelt's nomination for Governor of New York poured in on the summer president today by mail and wire.

Sufficient time had elapsed since the attempt of the New York leaders to win him last Wednesday to bring in letters from the South and West, and in virtually every instance the demand was made that Colonel Roosevelt stay out of the race.

Male Militant Makes Attack on Statesman

BRISTOL, England, July 11.—A violent attack was made today on Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, by a male militant suffragist, who rushed at the statesman immediately on his descent from the train here. The assailant hurled a heavy bundle of papers in Birrell's face, at the same time shouting: "You cur, you torturer of women!"

SENATORS RUSH ANTI-TRUST BILLS

Administration Measures May Emerge From Committee as Omnibus.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—With considerable progress already made towards perfecting the administration's anti-trust program, Senate committees hastened the work today on those measures. They were determined to complete the for submission to the Senate. As the Senate will not meet until Monday this was expected to afford people ample opportunity to finish the work.

The results of the first day's labors of the Interstate Commerce and the Judiciary Committees may be summarized as follows:

The Interstate Commerce Committee perfected the Interstate Trade Commission bill now before the Senate, by adding the important amendments bearing on the Sherman law, decided not to amend the much discussed Section 5, in which unfair competition is declared unlawful, and took up and considered amendments to the railroad securities bill.

CLAYTON BILL.
The Judiciary Committee considered the Clayton anti-trust bill, discussed among other sections, those relating to interfering with interstate and holding companies and to labor unions and made numerous tentative changes in the phraseology of the bill.

The Interstate Commerce Committee when it met today expected to complete its amendments to the railway securities bill by tonight. An amendment which may be proposed would give the Interstate Commerce Commission control over the issuance of railroad securities at all times. The Judiciary Committee was expected to resume consideration of the labor unions, some changes in the phraseology of which probably will be made. Both committees hope to have their reports on the two measures ready by Monday.

OMNIBUS BILL.

Possibility of consolidating all three anti-trust bills with a view to expediting completion of the program was being discussed by Senate members today. It was said that in favor of consolidation and some senators said this may be done when the bills reach the Senate floor next week.

The two amendments added to the trade commission by the Interstate Commerce Committee are: one to create a commission to investigate and report on any way affecting the provisions of that act as it stands on the statute books.

The latter amendment was added because of widespread claims that the proposed measure would weaken the Sherman act.

THREATENER OF MOTHER-IN-LAW GETS PROBATION

Upon the plea of his two sisters, Eugene Christiansen, who had threatened to shoot his mother-in-law, was released on two years' probation by Superior Judge Donahue today. Christiansen is separated from his wife and minor child who are staying at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lulu Beck. One night several weeks ago Christiansen called at the home and after a quarrel threatened to shoot Mrs. Beck. His arrest followed.

FORGED CHECK CASHED IN HUBBY'S OWN BANK

P. R. Scott, who was sentenced to state prison here for forgery in 1912, is involved with the law again at Fresno, having, it is alleged, forged the name of Mrs. Louis Einstein to a check for $25 which he cashed at the bank where the woman's husband is president. Scott is said to have copied the signature of Mrs. Einstein from a check she gave for a transaction with a firm where he acted as bookkeeper.

OBJECTS TO HUSBAND'S FRIENDS; SEEKS DIVORCE

Alleging that her husband had too many friends among other women, Mrs. Margaret E. Gilliam today filed suit for divorce against William N. Gilliam, a traveling salesman. Plaintiff asks for permission to resume her maiden name of Margaret Street and for $150 per month alimony.

STRANGER IN CITY IS SHOT AT AND ROBBED

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Frank H. Knapp, a resident of Willis, arrived last night on a Northwestern Pacific train. As he left the ferry building he was shot at by four men, who seized the opportunity at Fourth and Howard streets, held him up and took $13 and his baggage check. He had gone in search of a hotel and was about to enter the place of his choice when the attack occurred.

M. J. KELLY CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY TREASURER

COUNTY TREASURER M. J. KELLY, WHO IS CANDIDATE AT PRIMARIES FOR RE-ELECTION.

Goes Before the People on the Record He Has Made in Office

With the filing of his petition containing over 1,000 names today, County Treasurer M. J. Kelly has announced his candidacy for re-election.

Mr. Kelly is a native of the sunny south, being born near Wheeling, W. Va. He came to Oakland about thirty years ago and has resided here ever since.

Mr. Kelly has been treasurer for the past eight years, being appointed in March, 1906. At the time that he accepted the position he announced his determination to conduct the office in a thorough business-like manner. How well this promise has been fulfilled can be best testified by those that come in daily contact with the office. He voluntarily instituted certain reforms in the method of handling trust funds which render impossible irregularities. How well the records and the books of the office are kept can be best judged from the reading of the report of Lester Herrick and Herrick, the expert accountants appointed by the grand jury, filed in the county clerk's office a few months ago, which concludes a favorable criticism of the treasurer's office in these words: "The general consideration of the records of the treasurer's office has evinced a most excellent and efficient condition."

Mr. Kelly is noted for his respect for his word and his loyalty to his friends. He was never known to break a promise or fail to do his duty. His high sense of honor, his spirit of loyalty, his exemplary habits and his strict attention to his official duties stamp him a man in the right place.

UNION MEN QUIT STOCKTON SHOPS

Tenseness in Situation Growing and Many Walkouts Expected Tonight.

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

STOCKTON, July 11.—The third day of the "open shop" policy now being enforced by the employing firms of Stockton, numbering 332, finds the situation increasing in tenseness and additional men out of work. Union fathers working on a public school quit yesterday when a non-union driver arrived on the scene with a load of laths. It is said today that many carpenters will walk out this afternoon when they are paid off.

Four "strike breakers" employed at the lumber mill of Totten & Brandt yesterday turned out to be union men and returned to San Francisco. Before leaving they said conditions here had been misrepresented and they did not know of the labor troubles when they shipped to Stockton.

A report that the Totten & Brandt plant was damaged yesterday by the new workmen is denied by Roscoe Brandt of the firm.

Last night between 700 and 800 union people attended a meeting of the Ladies' Label League, at the Central Labor Temple and heard speeches by out-of-town and local leaders.

All the visiting leaders and high officials of local unions will go to San Francisco tonight to attend the meeting of the executive board of the Stockton situation will be the chief theme of discussion.

AGED WIDOW FOUND DEAD BY GAS ASPHYXIATION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Mrs. Anne Racine, an aged widow, was found asphyxiated in her home at 824 Elizabeth street, this morning. A boiler full of clothes on the stove in the kitchen, which adjoined her bedroom, and a window were closed when she was found.

met her death. Evidently the fumes had come from the boiler, the fumes to escape. The woman, feeling faint, lay for a moment on the bed, and was soon lulled into unconsciousness. She was 70 years old.

ARRESTED FOR BATTERY.

Augustine Dominga, a musician, and Pasquale Silvestro, a laborer, were arrested today on charges of battery. The arrests were made by the Oakland Department in San Francisco.

NOTED RAILROAD OFFICIAL DIES

Melville E. Ingalls, Powerful Figure in Vanderbilt Group, Passes Away.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 11.—Melville E. Ingalls, financier and railroad man, died here early today of heart failure.

The body will be taken to Cincinnati tomorrow and the funeral will be held Monday at the Unitarian church there. Among the men hearses selected are Charles F. Taft, of Cincinnati and George Simpson of Los Angeles.

Besides the widow, and a daughter, the deceased is survived by four sons, Melville E. Ingalls Jr., and Fay Ingalls of New York, George H. Ingalls of Chicago, and Albert S. Ingalls of Cleveland.

Until two years ago he was chairman of the board of directors of the Big Four Railroad, the transportation line with which his name was most closely identified, although he was a powerful figure in what generally are known as the Vanderbilt group of railroads. Besides his home here, he had a home in Cincinnati, and a new one in Washington, D. C.

Ingalls was born at Harrison, Me., in 1842, was reared on a farm and educated at Bowdoin and Harvard. His career as a railroad man and financier began in 1870, when he became president, and a year later receiver of the old Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Lafayette Railroad.

In the reorganization he created the Cincinnati, St. Louis and Chicago and later consolidated it with other railroads forming the Big Four system, of which he was chairman. He was president of the Chesapeake and Ohio from 1893 to 1895, was Democratic candidate for mayor of Cincinnati in 1903, and president of the National Civic Federation in 1905. He also was interested in banking in Cincinnati.

LURE AGED VICTIM INTO STABLE AND ROB HIM

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Fred Block, an aged citizen was lured into a stable stall in Wolf's Lumber Yard on of $10 and his watch. Block was on his way home and was walking through the yard from Third avenue when a man asked him whether he had any lottery tickets and invited him into the stable offering to make a purchase. Block, suspecting nothing, walked into the trap, was seized from behind, knocked down and robbed. His assailants, neither of whom was employed in the yard, but both of whom had been seen loitering about, made their escape.

OFFICER BLAMED FOR LOSS OF LIVES

Board Holds Collier Responsible for Sinking of Empress of Ireland.

QUEBEC, July 11.—The Collier Stordstad is held to blame for the Empress of Ireland disaster, in the findings of the wreck commission, handed down today. The commission holds that the disaster was due to the Stordstad's change of course ordered by the third officer, without instructions from the first officer, who was in charge of the collier at the time. The Empress was sunk in the St. Lawrence, May 29, with a loss of more than 1000 lives.

The inquiry into the disaster was begun in Quebec on June 14, by a commission composed of Lord Mersey, formerly presiding justice of the British admiralty court. Sir Adolphe Roulier of Quebec and wick. The Collier third officer found responsible is Alfred Tuftens. He was on the bridge when the crash occurred and the report holds that "he was wrong and negligent in keeping the navigation of the vessel in his own hands and failing to call the captain when he saw the fog coming on."

The report says the disaster was not due to any special characteristics of the St. Lawrence disaster, which might have occurred in any river in similar circumstances.

CONFLICT IN TESTIMONY.

The report notes a radical conflict in the testimony of officers of the Empress and of the Stordstad. The witnesses from the Stordstad reads the report, "say they were approaching out as to pass red and while those from the Empress say they were approaching so as to pass green to green. The stories are irreconcilable. We have therefore, thought it advisable to found our conclusions almost entirely on the events spoken of by the witnesses and on their probable sequence in order to arrive at a solution of the difficulty."

"We have come to the conclusion that Mr. Tuftens was mistaken in his supposed that there was any intention on the part of the Empress to pass port to port, or that she, in fact, by her lights manifested the intention of doing so, but it appears as to be a mistake which would have been of no consequence if both ships had subsequently kept their courses."

CHANGED COURSE IN FOG.

"Shortly after the ships came into the position of green to green as claimed by Captain Kendall, or red to red, as claimed by Mr. Tuftens, the fog shut them out from each other's sight. The fog, that the course of one or the other was changed and the collision brought about. Therefore the question as to who is to blame resolves itself into a simple issue, namely, which of the ships changed her course during the fog?"

There is, in our opinion, no ground for saying that the course of the Empress of Ireland was ever changed in the sense that wheel was wistfully moved, but as the bearing proceeded another explanation was propounded, namely, that the vessel changed her course, not by reason of any wilful alterations of her controllable movement.

This, it was suggested, might have been due to an insufficient area of rudder or some mishap to the steering gear but, says the report, "we are of the opinion that the allegations as to their conditions are not well founded."

ROADS MAY MAKE TRAFFIC PACT

Santa Fe and Western Pacific Hold Preliminary Discussion of Agreement.

A traffic pact, by which the Atchafalaya, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad will be enabled to use Western Pacific tracks from Stockton to Sacramento, is predicted in railroad circles, following news that preliminary discussions of such an arrangement have been held by high officials of both companies. The agreement would, it is declared, permit the Santa Fe to enter Sacramento and tap its nearby territory.

News of the projected agreement has leaked out following a trip of inspection over the line in question, when the following formed the party: A. G. Wain, general manager, and G. W. Harris, chief engineer, of the Santa Fe, and C. M. Levey, vice-president and general manager, and T. J. Smith, chief engineer, of the Western Pacific.

The desire of the Santa Fe to reach Sacramento is well known and of long standing. Last spring, an agreement was made with the Oakland, Antioch and Eastern electric line whereby the latter company's tracks via Bay Point this compels the Santa Fe to run around two sides of a triangle. The shorter route is via the station. From Stockton to Sacramento run the tracks of the Western Pacific, the Southern Pacific and the Central California Traction Company.

A report of negotiations for a traffic agreement with the traction company was current last April. The same report is again current, but information has been given out that the Western Pacific-Santa Fe pact will be the one finally determined upon.

RUSSIAN MINISTER TO SERBIA PASSES AWAY

BEIGRADE, July 11.—The Russian minister to Serbia, M. Hartwig, died suddenly yesterday. M. Hartwig was one of the best-known of Russian diplomats. He was formerly minister to Persia. He is believed to have had much to do with the formation of the Balkan alliance, and the preparation for the Balkan war. His strong Serbian sympathies made him obnoxious to Austria.

RECEIVES BROKEN NOSE AS RESULT OF FIGHT

Joseph Freitas was arrested today at Thirteenth avenue and East Twelfth street, and may be charged with battery or assault as the result of a fight with J. P. McDermott, 1259 Twelfth street. Freitas is alleged to have struck McDermott with an empty bottle, inflicting a wound under the left eye and breaking his nose. McDermott was cared for at the Receiving Hospital.

AND FRACTURES NOSE

When T. P. McDermott, business agent of the milk drivers' union, sought to argue with Joe Freitas, a milk driver, early this morning he was met with a blow in the face with a pint milk bottle which fractured his nose, bruised his eye and lacerated his neck. The injuries were treated at the Receiving Hospital by Dr. Bell and Steward Davison.

BALLOON RACE TRIALS START

Annual Elimination Contest for Entrants Begins at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 11.—The National Balloon Race, which is to start from here this afternoon, is the annual elimination contest to select entrants for the international race for the Gordon Bennett cup, which will start from Kansas City next October. Each nation that takes part in the international race is entitled to three entrants. One of the American entrants is R. H. Upson, who won the last international race, which was held in Paris. The two balloonists who make the greatest distance in an air line, in the race starting today will be qualified for the international race of this year.

entered for the elimination race:

Warren Rason, Brookville, O., balloon, "Hoosier."

R. A. D. Preston, Akron, O., balloon, "Goodyear."

Arthur T. Atherholt, Philadelphia.

Paul J. McCullough, St. Louis, balloon, "Uncle Sam."

William F. Assmann, St. Louis, balloon, "Miss Sofia."

John Barry, St. Louis, balloon, "Aero Club of St. Louis."

D. S. Galt, St. Louis.

Jerome Kingsbury, New York.

John Watts, Kansas City.

Roy E. Donaldson, Springfield, Ill.

H. E. Honeswell, St. Louis.

All the balloons entered in the race have a capacity of 50,000 cubic feet. Many of the aeronauts have thrilling records. Captain Preston was aide to R. H. Upson in the last international race and his balloon won the contest over 17 competitors, staying in the air 43 hours.

Captain Atherholt has made over 100 balloon flights. His first long flight was in 1907, from St. Louis, when, with Major Henry B. Hersey, he took part in the international race that started from Stuttgart, Germany, in 1912. He flew the lengths of Germany and Russia and landed in the Baltic region near St. Petersburg.

On landing he was arrested by the Russian authorities as a German spy. A William F. Assmann of St. Louis has been an aeronaut since he was 17 years old. On July 14, 1909, his balloon fell 20,000 feet at night into Lake Nipissing, Canada. Assmann was in the water all night, and was rescued by two Indians. In a balloon he has crossed the Great Lakes three times. Captain Assmann will have no aid in the flight this afternoon, as his balloon is not in good condition.

The balloon "Million Population Club," in which he intended to fly, was lost in the recent balloon race that started from Portland, Ore.

CAPTAIN BERRY ENTERED.

Captain John Berry, who flew in the "Million Population Club" in the Portland race, started his aeronautic career in 1862, when he was 14 years old. In July, 1912, in the national races from Kansas City, Berry rode a thunderstorm for 12 hours. The basket filled with water, waist-deep. As aide in the race today Berry will have Albert Von Hoffman Jr., who graduated this spring from the St. Louis high schools, and is barely 16 years old. They will fly in the "Aero Club of St. Louis," the same balloon in which Berry traveled in the international race of 1912, when he fell into the Baltic Sea.

E. S. Cole, who was granted a pilot's license in 1911, holds the distance record for a flight in a 40,000 cubic foot capacity balloon. In such a balloon he flew from Topeka, Kan., to Tangier, Okla., a distance of 375 miles.

At a conference between members of the municipal auditorium advisory commission with representatives of the work department plans were made for laying out ground about the new auditorium. The plans are in accordance with those presented to the council about a year ago, and will be used in the same of beautification.

Recommendations will be presented to the city council that bids be called for for a portion of the work.

TAKES GARBAGE PROBLEM IN HAND

Chief Petersen Requests White to Immediately Notify Him of Further Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen of Oakland has taken into his own hands the problem of disciplining the contractors who were charged with failing to haul Oakland's garbage far enough out to sea to prevent its being washed up on the local beach. In order that his new lease of a lot of matter that is unsanitary and a nuisance to the city of Oakland, he has written to Chief of Police White, asking that he be immediately notified of any further trouble in this regard. His letter reads:

"Dear Sir:—It has come to my knowledge that at times the garbage dumps, by our contractors, who are required to remove the same far enough out to sea that it will not float upon your beaches, causes your beaches to be congested with a lot of matter that is unsanitary and a nuisance to the city of San Francisco. I would respectfully request that your patrolmen patrolling the beach district notify your office, and by your office, we receive information when at any time garbage drifts ashore that apparently comes from the Oakland side of the bay that we may take such steps as will prevent a recurrence of the condition. In the matter, I remain,

"Very truly yours,"

One Can Have A Good Time At Table

without the usual cup of coffee, and feel a whole lot better between meals, too—free from that old "off color feeling"—biliousness, indigestion, nervousness and heart flutter.

The secret is

—instead of coffee.

Try the change for a couple of weeks and observe two noticeable things:

You won't miss the old beverage, for Postum tastes much like rare old Java.

Further, there's the brisk, alert feeling—free from the logginess of a lazy liver and disturbed digestion.

Thousands of people have made the change and know

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled—100 and 500 packages.

Instant Postum—needs no boiling. A teaspoonful of the soluble powder stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delightful beverage instantly. Add cream and sugar to taste—30c and 50c tins.

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same.

—Grocers everywhere sell POSTUM.

Convention Sessions to Close Tomorrow

C. E. PLEDGES LOYALTY

SWEEPING RESOLUTIONS

The convention today passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we, the California Christian Endeavor Union, in session at Oakland, Cal., July 8-12, 1914, do hereby express our gratitude to God for the Providence that has provided us during the year and for the many blessings we have enjoyed for the open doors of service and the strength to enter these doors; for the many who have been won for Christ and given their lives to some line of definite service;

Resolved, That the thanks of the convention be expressed to the Oakland Committee of 1914, the pastors and churches, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., the leaders of music and the chorus, the press of this city and our state for their excellent support and cooperation.

Resolved, That the California Christian Endeavor Union pledge its loyal support to the red light abatement bill and urge all good citizens everywhere to remember to vote "yes" on proposition four on the ballot on the 3d of November;

Resolved, That the California Christian Endeavor Union endorse and most heartily support the proposed anti-prize fight bill, and join in the fight to eliminate this brutal so-called sport from the state of California;

Whereas, The people of the state of California will be called upon this fall to vote upon the most important moral measure ever presented to them, in the constitutional amendment to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor; and

Whereas, The California Christian Endeavor Union has always stood and will always stand for the complete elimination of the accursed traffic in intoxicating liquors; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we pledge to the cause of good government and temperance the unflinching and devoted loyalty of our 35,000 young people in this state;

Resolved, Further, That we call upon all Christian people and all of those who believe in the welfare of this and future generations to support this amendment, and thus strike at the cause of delinquency and inefficiency;

Resolved, Further, That we here and now give notice that we are in this fight to win and that the battle will be fought vigorously until we DO win, for we will see California dry, and we will have a saloonless nation. "California Dry in 1914; a Saloonless Nation in 1920!" is our motto.

The resolution committee consisted of Rev. E. B. Hayes, William D. Graybiel, Mrs. J. P. Welles, Mrs. J. L. Togue.

The place of meeting committee recommended to the convention this morning that San Diego be the convention city for 1915. The report of the committee was adopted.

PHILIP M. WALSH IS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

PHILIP M. WALSH, OAKLAND ATTORNEY, WHO IS A CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS.

Popular Young Attorney Will Seek Republican Nomination at Primaries

Philip M. Walsh, Republican candidate for Congress in the district comprising Alameda county, is a native of San Francisco. Mr. Walsh entered the newspaper business while yet a very young man and continued as a reporter until shortly before reaching his majority, when, having in the meantime become proficient as a shorthand writer, he was appointed an official court reporter by Judge F. B. Ogden.

Mr. Walsh studied law in the office of Hon. M. C. Chapman and was admitted to practice before the Supreme Court of California in 1895. During the incumbency of John J. Allen as district attorney, Mr. Walsh served as his chief deputy. He was on three successive occasions elected to the California Legislature from the Forty-eighth Assembly.

Mr. Walsh has been a member of the District, each time by a large increased vote. Mr. Walsh believes in a protective tariff and that the time has arrived when business interests throughout the country should be protected and conserved rather than disturbed and harassed. He strongly advocates the continued improvement of Oakland Harbor.

Following are Republicans of Alameda county who have signed their intention of supporting the candidacy of Mr. Walsh:

M. C. Chapman, president Alameda County Bar Association.
Dr. S. H. Buteau, physician and surgeon.

as in St. Paul's City, who hold the truth in unbroken vision. In this sense we are to be dreamers. The vision comes before the venture, but after that the venture must be devoted to the truth. There must be a positive commitment to the cause of Christ. We must burn the bridges behind us. There must be no divided heart, no effort after a double allegiance. If we would keep our hearts right, we must be true to the truth, and the means to the end. And then the sandals. The feet shod with the preparation of the Gospel of Peace. And that means that we must follow in the train of the Son of God, who came forth, a kingly crown to him, his bloodstained banner streams afar. Who follow in his train? Surely not the one who is seeking an easy life, who wishes before time, to rest his weary feet by the quiet waters of peace. But the one who is willing and eager to traverse the difficult path, knowing that in this way he is doing his utmost to prepare his old world for the Gospel of Peace and the glorious coming of the Prince of Peace. And then again the shield—that means a fearless spirit, a brave heart, and of one who has believed, and that He is able to keep that which he has committed to Him.

BRAVE CHRISTIAN SOLDIER.

"What is the secret of a dauntless courage? The Christian soldier can be as brave as Saint George and like him, he can slay the dragon. Evil customs will not captivate him. False standards will never lead him, never lose their power until the believing soul asserts itself and thunders forth its defiance to that kind of a spirit which is always making the good the enemy of the best. And the helmet—his head must be guarded too. Where millions, false doctrines, morbid imaginations and theological vagaries must be recognized as the deadliest kind of foes. There must be no frightened cry of an ultra-conservative. It is the earnest caution of a loving heart and of one who has studied long and hard and knows where-an essential equipment now, as always, for the Christian. We must not be carried about by every wind of doctrine, whether it comes as a gentle healing zephyr from heaven, or as a gust of hot air, comes accompanied by moaning fiends from an imaginary tabernacle in Brooklyn, New York.

"Last of all, the sword of the Spirit, and that is the word of God, and a spirit filled with the word of God until that spirit overflows. The arm with the sword can reach only so far, but with the word in its grasp, it can reach out far beyond itself. Personality is much, but a personality filled with the Spirit of God overflows and in the execution of any work worth while, it is only the overflow that counts. It is a Christian soldier thus equipped can, in the strength of the Lord, accomplish wonders, and there can hardly be any limit to the efficiency of one who puts in simple trust the whole armor of God."

Freight Crashes Into River; Fireman May Die

DALLAS, Ore., July 11.—Freight train No. 239, on the Salem, Falls City and Western railway, dropped through the bridge over the Luckanute river near Black Rock yesterday. Fireman Joe Fritz was badly scalded and he may die, but Engineer George Faulkner escaped serious burns by keeping under water.

Aviator Falls Into Channel; Rescued will endeavor to arrange terms of peace, which would be virtually terms of surrender.

TO ARRANGE ELECTION.

TORREON, Mexico, July 11.—At the Carranza-Villa reconciliation conference at Torreon an effort to prevent General Carranza or any of the military leaders of the revolution from becoming candidates for the presidency or vice-presidency failed to be adopted, according to a lengthy official statement issued here today. The motion was made by the Villa delegates. A motion carried, however, demanding that the first chief, ex-president ad interim with the title of president, should be elected.

A convention composed of delegates representing the Constitutional army, every 1000 soldiers to be represented by one delegate selected by a committee of military chiefs to be approved by the general of the division, which would fix the date and arrange for the election.

A list of names was suggested to Carranza by all the delegates from which he could select if he saw fit a provisional cabinet or a consulting committee to act until the election of permanent officers. Resolutions also were adopted condemning what was declared the activity of the clergy in assisting the Huerta government.

This followed a fight in which the Villa delegates attempted to eliminate any military leader, including Carranza, from presidential possibilities. Those recommended as suitable for the provisional cabinet were Iglesias Calderon, Luis Cabrera, Antonio Villaral, Miguel Silva, Manuel Bonilla, Alberto Pina, Eduardo F. Ray, Ignacio Pesquera, Miguel Diaz Lombardo, Jose E. Vasconcelos, Miguel Alessio Robles and Federico Gonzales Garza.

The convention first agreed that General Carranza was the supreme leader of the revolution and General Villa the chief of the Division of the North.

The internal trouble in the State of Sonora was mentioned in an adopted resolution calling on General Carranza to obtain a solution of the conflict in the Western State, General Obregon, Carranza's western divisional commander, who was not represented at the conference here, and Jose Maria Maytorena, the Constitutional governor of Sonora, have disagreed.

It was suggested also that Maytorena resign if he believed such action would end the trouble.

OBREGON "STILL AT IT."

SALTILLO, Mexico, July 3, via Laredo, July 11.—Various reports that the seaport of Guaymas had been evacuated by Federal forces were in error, according to advices today from General Alvarado, commanding the Constitutionalists besieging that city. Alvarado reported he has moved the forces so as to surround Guaymas completely on the land side.

The following message was received today from General Obregon, dated Guadalupe, July 9:

"I have the honor to report that up to this time I have captured 53 trains from the enemy, 8 cannons, several machine guns, 2 cars of artillery and ammunition and 6 of rifle cartridges, and still continue to capture prisoners and supplies."

LEAVES FOR EUROPE.

MEXICO CITY, July 11.—Roberto Estivo-Ruiz, former acting Mexican Foreign Minister, left today for Vera Cruz, on his way to Europe and South America.

MADEROS ON SPECIAL TRAIN.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 11.—Francisco Madero, the late Mexican family, including Mrs. Gustavo Madero, widow of the man who was killed shortly before his brother, President Francisco Madero, in Mexico City, arrived today from Montevideo, Mexico. They came on a special train from Philadelphia and were met at the station by about 100 members of the family, who have been here for some time.

"This is the happiest day of my life," said the family's aged head, Francisco Madero, father of the late Mexican executive. Some of my sons and daughters are with us once more, and my boys now fighting in Mexico have made most honorable names for themselves."

The Church—a Place to Rest and Pray

If you are tired and weary after a week of toil at the office, shop or factory, go to church somewhere tomorrow and listen to the beautiful, restful music, hear the message of God, and you will return home refreshed and happy because of the hour you have spent within the walls of God's house.

The churches of the East Bay cities are so eager to communicate with every man, woman and child in their field with an assurance of good will and sincere interest that church-going people are paying for this large advertisement every week.

It is nothing new for the church to go to the people with the good news that they have friends. The churches are always doing this. The very existence of a church building is an invitation to every person that gazes upon it to enter.

Dozens of agencies are employed by organized Christianity to assure all men that God loves them, and that God's children love them also. The people who are already members of the various churches are all one in an earnest desire to save all people and to make our Savior real to men. They are publishing this friendly message and are leaving no method untried that gives promise of helping to bring to the people a sense of the actuality of religion. The church has the most important message in all the Universe to give. It is being published just as it is being proclaimed from the pulpits and altars of every church on every Sunday. Amid all of the hurry and fret and cares of this busy world, the church declares the good news—that man's real life is his spirit life, and that his relationship with God should be his first care. The deepest joys and highest privileges and the broadest opportunities of the human soul are found in personal fellowship with God through Jesus Christ, his Son.

Whatever touches the lives of the people is the concern of the Church. If anybody is in distress of mind, or spirit, or body, the churches are sincerely desirous of an opportunity to extend help and sympathy. To the bereaved, the sick and the troubled in mind, the churches are especially eager to bring the comfort of Christ.

Delegates to the Extension of the Order Committee: George A. Dudley, Henry Marshall, Fred Webber and Arthur Curtis.
After the installation, there will be a dance.
On Thursday evening, July 23, the Parlor will hold its first monthly whist party.

COLORADO SPRINGS, July 11.—The question of state rights was injected into the annual meeting of the Colorado Bar Association today when L. Ward Sumner of Denver delivered an address on "The question of federal control of state waters in the priority status." The address was the first of several which featured the final day of the convention. Late this afternoon officers will be elected and the convention will adjourn.

NEW TEACHERS TO JOIN STANFORD

Noted Law Expert Joins Faculty; Other Changes Made.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, July 11.—At the meeting of the board of Stanford trustees, held on the 26th day of June, a number of important actions were taken in connection with changes in the teaching force of the cardinal institution. Chief among these was the appointment of Clarke Butler Whittier to a professorship in the Stanford University law department. Prof. Whittier is named to succeed Emil McClain, after three semesters' work in Palo Alto.
Professor Whittier graduated from Stanford in 1897 and took his LL. B. from Harvard in 1898. In 1898 he married Winifred Caldwell, Stanford '95. In 1898, and for two years thereafter, he was in Los Angeles. In 1897 he accepted an appointment as instructor in the Stanford law school, which he held until 1899, when he was given an assistant professorship. Another promotion came to him at Stanford in 1900, when he was named as an associate professor. He left this post in 1902 to accept a full professorship of law at the University of Chicago. He has been connected with the school since 1902.

PLEADING EXPERT.
At the present time he is considered one of the leading teachers in this country. His specialties being evidence, common law pleading and contracts. He is unusually qualified to teach evidence, which subject occupied a great part of his attention at Chicago. He is a member of the American Bar Association and is the author of a volume, "Cases in Common Law Pleading." Professor George Hempel, head of the German department of Stanford, has been granted leave of absence for the academic year 1914-15 on sabbatical terms. His physician has ordered a year's rest, which Dr. Hempel will take in Europe. Dr. Hempel is noted for his discoveries in a number of ancient languages, his pre-eminent work being that of original translations from Etruscan inscriptions.

The leave of absence of Assistant Professor W. K. Fisher of the zoology department for the first semester of 1914-15, previously granted, was rescinded and he will resume work on September 1. Professor Fisher has been connected with the Stanford department since 1906, in the capacity of assistant professor of zoology. Other leaves of absence granted and appointments made follow:
The resignation of Associate Professor G. H. Sabine of the philosophy department was accepted, taking effect July 31. The resignation of Associate Professor Colbert Seares of the Romance languages department also was accepted, same date. Y. Ichibashi of the department of history was granted leave of absence for the first semester of 1914-15.
R. R. Carver of the University of Chicago was appointed instructor in ethnology for the year 1914-15, vice Dr. I. B. Cross.
Carl Shols and Norman Mitlenhall were appointed assistants in electrical engineering for the months of July and August, 1914.
Miss Mary Ives was appointed cataloguer in the university library for 1914-15.

COMMERCIALIZES CURE BY PRAYER

Christian Scientist's Conviction for Practice Without License Upheld.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Commercialized use of Christian Science teaching was held by the appellate division of the Supreme Court yesterday to be illegal. The conviction in a lower court of Willis Vernon Cole for practicing medicine without a license when he accepted fees for Christian Science treatment was sustained. The higher court, in its opinion, pronounced in the positive the promise:
"If the commercialized use of prayer for the avowed purpose of treating all persons seeking cure for all kinds of bodily ills the practice of the religious tenets of a church?"
Cole, formerly a sculptor and a poet, testified at his trial that his practice brought him an annual income, that he had never studied medicine; that he never solicited fees, but accepted those offered him.
Clifford P. Smith of the committee on the part of the Christian Science Church issued a statement later declaring that the practice of Christian Science differed from the practice of medicine, and that it could not be "made the same by law."
It was announced that in all probability the case will be appealed. The appeal probably will be based upon a dissenting opinion rendered by Justice Dowling, saying that if Cole indulged simply in silent prayer with his patients there was nothing unlawful in

BOARD OF CONTROL HEAD TO SPEAK IN OAKLAND

The Manufacturers' Committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce has invited John F. Neylan, chairman of the State Board of Control, to address the members of the regular weekly luncheon next week at the Hotel Oakland.
Neylan will explain to the manufacturers the operations of the Board of Control and the business methods of the State Government over which that Board exercises supervision.
The Oakland manufacturers are close students of the business methods of the State and other bureaus that have to do with contracts for supplies for public institutions. During the current year there have been more bids on proposals for supplies for state, city and federal government than ever before in the history of the city. The Oakland manufacturers are pushing their goods, finding new markets and developing old ones.
The Manufacturers' Committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce invites business men outside of the organization to be present at the luncheon next Wednesday.

ALL around the bay are 'are beautiful' new homes in process of erection, and one finds many characteristics which did not distinguish the earlier towns of the pioneers. There were many large homes in California street, and on "Nob Hill"—huge piles of masonry, not at all suggestive of lovely architectural designs. But today, some represent beautiful architectural design, and they are surrounded by wonderful gardens, with pergolas, sundials, stone benches, fountains—the beautiful, accessions copied from old Italian gardens—from the gardens surrounding the French Chateaux, or from Versailles.

But one thing which is very characteristic of our new homes is the library—and this comes to us directly from England. In the old time English homes are always fine libraries—sometimes they are small rooms with the shelves extending to the ceiling, and sometimes they are great spacious apartments—one of the finest rooms in the house. There is nothing so ornamental as a library—with its rows of books—some of them in brilliant, new binding of the later day, and some in the mellow tones which only age can give. Most women are to-day well educated, and books are necessary to their enjoyment of life. It is indeed a far cry from the day when the mistress of a new mansion "bought the books to match the carpet," as happened across the bay.

Indeed color played a large part in the furnishings of the old time library, as was evinced by the fact that the mistress of the hour wanted only books with brightest red bindings. They fairly hit me in the face when the library door was opened, and gone was all the restful feeling, the element of repose that a library is supposed to bring. Every one at all interested in California books, is talking now of the splendid library Mrs. Carolyn is planning for her new home. The library at Carolyn's is to be a magnificent room, 65 feet long, and 22 feet high, and it is to have a grand mezzanine balcony, and there are to be 25,000 volumes on the shelves. Mrs. Hearst's library at the Hacienda is a small one—but its size is more than compensated for by the wonderful editions that Mrs. Hearst owns. There are some exceedingly beautiful parchment books, with the wonderful illustrations of mediaeval days. It is almost a lost art now, for no man would spend his life on only one book. Mrs. Hearst has other very wonderful volumes, the collection representing the work of experts all over the world.

It is a far cry from the days when women used to be told to hide their cleverness. For to be bright—to be well read was not to be attractive. In our day women are ashamed to be stupid, and it is stupidity that they try to hide.

One of the most delightful libraries in the world is that of Queen Mary of England, who loves to spend after-dinner hours in sewing in the big, picturesque room. She delights in reading aloud, or in having the Princess Mary read to her. And in this library the authors she prefers are Macaulay, Moley, Mothey, Fronde, Dante, Goethe, Moliere, Tennyson, Carlyle, Emerson, and George Eliot. The queen's special hobbies are architecture and history.

Some of our well known women have a small library of books devoted to things that interest them specially, such as gardening—or agriculture. Our little matron who is developing a country place buys everything she can find in regard to poultry, and "the chicken ranch," as her friends call it, bids fair to be a profitable investment. In almost all libraries there are books on art, and the eastern publishers tell us that it is quite wonderful the way women are buying books relating to the economic questions of the day. There is no doubt that the woman of the smart set today have a remarkable education.

In France there is a very wonderful woman, Madame Wissant who is said to be the oldest feminist in France. She is a brilliant woman and looks like Rosa Bonheur. She has a wonderful library, containing books on women and what they have done. She intends to give this library to France, as a nucleus for a great woman's library.

A. S. Macdonald has some exceedingly rare books which he brought back from his trip abroad. Almost every traveler makes a collection abroad, and Mr. Macdonald's was books and pictures.

General Oscar F. Long gave an exceedingly fine collection of books, all representing civil war days, to the Oakland library, and Mrs. John Val-ifornia a superb collection on the money problems of our country. The volumes were from the library of the late John J. Valentine.

In Mrs. Chabot's library are many valuable books of history, and the Oscar Lunings have one of the best French libraries around the bay.

One finds a very good musical library in Mrs. Sharon's home, and the library at Arbor Villa, while it is small, is exceedingly well chosen.

Mrs. Ella Soule at "Thorhill," her home at Linda Vista, has a classic library—that is, restful and very beautiful, with lovely rugs, the colors softened by time, with fine statuary, and with books, in the heart of which are the best thought of all ages. Archie Huntington in New York has the finest Spanish library in the world, and his collection is said to be simply magnificent. It is so large that he recently built an addition to his home, the design and decorative art being on Spanish lines.

There are many quaint libraries representing "dens" in the household, where men spend quiet after-dinner hours, and where they read of adventures and there are also the larger libraries, which are also the drawing rooms of homes. And one feels specially welcome in a drawing room of that kind, for one is indeed in the company of old friends.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Ethel Robinson is spending the summer abroad with her uncle,

John Havens of Berkeley. With a party of friends they have enjoyed a tour of the chateau country of France. At present they are in Paris, but will leave shortly for motor travels through Spain. Mr. Havens sent his touring car from California and has planned interesting itineraries for the summer.

Miss Frances Barrett is the attractive fiancée of Chester Arthur Kelley of San Francisco, to whom her engagement was announced last week. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reichart of Oakland. The wedding will be an event of the early fall.

Miss Bernice Taylor is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor, at whose beautiful home in The Uplands of Claremont so much delightful hospitality is dispensed. Miss Taylor assisted her mother in entertaining guests at a large dinner last week.

Miss Helen Ritchie is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Robert Ritchie, at whose home in Mariposa street she has entertained frequently. Miss Ritchie has just returned from a visit to friends in San Jose.

"SPIRIT OF DRESS"

One hears that women, the world over, have gone simply clothes mad this year, and there seems to be very good reason to suppose that this is true. For certainly on all sides this summer there has been more extravagance in gowns than has been seen before in many seasons. At Del Monte, during the recent Fourth of July holidays, many of the costumes were most elaborate, reminding one of the gowns seen at Newport, or at Deauville, France, for at Deauville are seen some of the most elaborate gowns worn in Europe.

The Del Monte costumes were elaborate and wonderful, and one saw also superb jewels. An effort was made at Shasta Springs, at the McCloud, and at Tahoe, to keep the gowning of the guests along simple lines. Mrs. Kohl tries to encourage very simple dresses, so do the Max Tars and the Moffitts. But at the Tavern on the Fourth of July some of the gowns were very elaborate. They may not have seemed appropriate in the heart of the high Sierras. Nevertheless, they were worn.

If there is ever a place in the world where simple gowns are needed it is in the great Yosemite Valley. Nevertheless, an attempt at overdressing was made at the hotel and at the various camps during the Fourth of July holidays. The sensible woman would naturally prefer thick, heavy shoes and a khaki or brown linen gown, but if others dress for dinner she feels compelled to do the remote mountains "the spirit of dress" seems to reign supreme.

Everything this summer seems to be on an elaborate scale—even the gowns of the women for ocean travel. Indeed, the deck now resembles a street of shops where one can purchase flowers, or books, or candy, or stand and gossip with a neighbor.

afterwards, which require the gowns one would wear on land.

"And hats achieve great importance. Smart women often appear in a different hat each morning, noon and night, and there must at least be one for morning wear, one for formal wear, and a crisp, fresh one to reserve to wear off the boat." So even in ocean travel Dame Fashion rules supreme.

"As others see us" always makes an interesting picture, especially in the matter of clothes. There is a and one finds an interesting paragraph in regard to the clothes worn by the women around the bay. The author writes:

"To see a group of four women promenading a San Francisco street on a pleasant morning is to be reminded of that ballet representing the Four Seasons, which we used to see in the second act of every well regulated extravaganza. The woman nearest the wall has on her furs—it is always cool in the shade; the one next to her is wearing the very latest wrinkles in spring garniture; the third one is dressed in the specially becoming frock she bought last coast. They are unique and original, and that is expressed in their clothes. In the latter they resemble the women of Vienna and Paris, rather than those of New York.

And this season, at all the summer resorts, the costumes of the women certainly resemble those that one would see at Cannes, at Dieppe, at Ostend, at Deauville, or on the Riviera. They are elaborate, to be sure—whether they are appropriate—but that is another story.

VACATION LURE.

A great many more people than usual are abroad this year, and the weather has been so exceptionally fine on the continent that the season for tourists may be regarded as a great success. Mrs. Frederick Samuels and her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Crowell, are enjoying a delightful summer on the continent. Mrs. Crowell writes that their trip has been wonderful, and that she has long ago exhausted all her adjectives. They spent the latter part of June in Venice, and they found the "Queen of the Adriatic" all their fancy had pictured it. They left Venice this wonder if Aladdin has robbed his lamp and transported the most of society on to the face of the waters. Time was when the question of what to take for wear on board the steamer was a perplexing one, but modernism has solved it, and one takes most of what one possesses, for there are dinners in the restaurant, and dances

October, and the one on the outside, where the sun shines the brightest, is as summery in her white ducks and her white slippers as though she had just stepped off the corner of the August number of a magazine. There is something, too, about the salt-laden breezes around the bay that gives women wonderful complexions. Most of the things they wear seem to be in the fashion. And to be in the fashion is a thing calculated to make a woman comfortable, whether she otherwise is or not."

The truth is, there is much independence among the women of this week for the Italian Lakes, after which their itinerary will take them to Switzerland.

Mrs. Elsa Greenfield is in Paris, and a luncheon was given there for her recently by Miss Frances Jolliffe, who is spending this year abroad. Mrs. Jolliffe recently enjoyed an extended motor trip through Egypt, and she will not return to California until late in the year.

The Misses Marie and Lilla Touchard are now at Carcassonne, and they are spending the season on a tour of southern Europe. Last summer they spent in northern Europe, and they greatly enjoyed their Scandinavian trip. They spent the entire winter in Rome, and this summer they have traveled leisurely through Spain, from which country Miss Marie Touchard has written the most charming letters. They are full of appreciation of that most picturesque country, and they deserve a wider audience than the few friends for whom they were written.

Society News of the Week

The Touchards will go to Rome again this coming winter, and they will not return to their home until October of next year.

Dr. and Mrs. Whitney, who were recently married, are now in Vienna, and they will stay some months in that fascinating city, so that Dr. Whitney may attend the clinics there. Mrs. Whitney was formerly Elizabeth Goodrich, one of the very attractive girls of Berkeley.

Mrs. Frederick Sanborn is abroad for the summer, and during her absence she will visit her sister, Miss Janet Peck, in London, and she will also spend some time at Bad Nauheim.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Bowles are making preparations to go abroad for cently joined by Mr. and Mrs. Folger. After the London season they will return to their country home, "Hazelwood Hills," near Redwood City.

Mrs. Paul Selby and her children, after a pleasant visit to relatives in California, have arrived safely in South Africa. Their home is in the Transvaal, and Mr. Selby is establishing there an exceedingly fine record in engineering lines. Mrs. Selby and her children were guests of the Misses Selby in Los Gatos and of Mrs. Selby's mother in Southern California.

To the regret of many friends here, Mrs. Prentiss Selby did not come to California this summer. Her son, Arthur Selby, is a student at Princeton, and this year they went abroad for the vacation days.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes Smith are among the Californians who are spending the summer abroad. They have recently been at the Hotel Meurice in Paris.

Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Joseph Neilson (Helen Nicol), has joined her husband, Ensign Neilson, and they have gone to his home in Pocatello, Idaho. Ensign Neilson's father is a prominent man of Idaho, with large delightful summer home on the New Jersey coast.

Mrs. Beach Soule has herself a most charming home at Piedmont, and she is a very attractive and clever young hostess. During her absence this summer her home at Piedmont will be closed.

Beach Soule and his three sons will be with his mother, Mrs. Ella Beach Soule, who has come to Oakland to spend the summer months.

In the autumn Mrs. Soule, Mrs. Bacon and Douglas Soule will return to Germany, where the latter will continue his musical studies.

Judge and Mrs. Charles Snook decided to take their vacation this year in the Shasta region, and they have with them their children, Wade, Preston and Helen Snook. They went in their machine this year, and so they are enjoying delightful motor trips in the Shasta region.

Mrs. William Clift and Miss Jean Clift are very fond of Santa Barbara, and they have gone to that picturesque city again this summer. They have taken a house in Santa Barbara, a very beautiful place, and Mrs. Lee Cole Burnham (Elizabeth Clift) will be their guest for part of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proctor have also taken a house in Santa Barbara this summer, and they are very popular there.

Mrs. Frederick Fenwick, who was Miss Agnes Duff of Berkeley, has been spending part of the season with Captain and Mrs. Powers. Captain Powers is stationed in Texas, and many complimentary affairs have Thomas Knowles, Miss Elsie Schilling, Miss Beatrice Simpson and Miss Jean Clift.

OAKLAND PLEASANT SUMMER RESORT.

Did anybody ever know such cool July days? Only to look out at the beautiful gray tones of the sky—the "monochrome of restful gray," all about one is to make one thankful for happy Oakland summer days. And these are measured up against a London background. For one reads from abroad:

"Thousands of Americans in Lon-week, for the town for days has been sweltering under a heat wave worthy of New York.

"Americans are easily spotted on the streets during the torrid periods, the women tourists by their sensibly flimsy costumes, low-cut necks and short sleeves, and the men by the fact that they promenade waistcoatless, and often coatless, in a way in which the conservative Briton never dreams of appearing in public."

And the women of the smart sets everywhere give a special little shiver when they read that, and say to each other: "How scandalous! Can it be true?"

NOW WE GET DANCES FROM PARIS.

For many years we have gone to Paris for our fashions. Now, it seems, we must go there for our dancing. So the American teachers have gone on to Paris, and here is the message they have brought back from that gay and brilliant city:

"Paris has condemned the Maxixe and has reverted to a modified form of the tango. The new fashions in the modern dances are the lulu fada and the danzon Cubano. Parisians have never learned to dance the one-step properly, and they have not accomplished the hesitation as it is danced over here. But the people of the gay city have caught on to the tango and are keeping hold of it, and it is danced as frequently in the course of a program as a one-step is in a tea dance or dinner dance here. The tango is now the one dance that all Paris is doing. The tempo of the dance has changed. The music is more brilliant, but the time is a little slower. Instead of the three or four dozen steps, whose very complexity seemed last winter to be responsible for the wave in the local popularity of the dance, the tango in Paris is now limited to about five figures. Of course the Parisians do it gracefully. All the dancing teachers say that the tango will be the rage over here next winter. So many dances, even to the turkey trot, have been misnamed 'tango' by the ignorant that the real tango has suffered. Certainly it is the dance that all Paris is doing, and therefore it is the fashion."

The Horatio Livermores have closed their home across the bay and have gone to "Montresol," their country daughter, Miss Beth Livermore, is a very popular girl, and every summer she entertains many friends. Miss Livermore is a graduate of the Head school, and among her friends on this side of the bay are Miss Ethel Valen-

An eastern tourist made the comment on our gardens recently that they were beautiful, but there was no place in which to sit down. One had to go all the way back to the veranda. The spirit of utility has its abiding place in the east. And sometimes the Californian who listens is moved to cry out in weariness of heart, "Thrill, Thrill, Horatio!" But in this criticism of our gardens the eastern tourist is quite right. One will see a beautiful rose garden, with no place to sit down "all among the roses."

In some of the most picturesque grounds surrounding Oakland there are no lovely shady seats, where one may be very close to the wonderful flower life. One does not have to wait for the classic stone benches, with Greek historic art represented on them. Just ordinary rustic benches will be sufficient.

A clever woman, who has been abroad, gives some illuminating hints on this point:

"English and German gardens, especially the latter, always surprise me with the number of seats and tables provided. In a little suburban garden near Berlin, where I used to visit, there were nine places at which chairs or benches were provided, capable of seating from one to six persons; and at six of these places were tables. And "the lady from the east" who stands for utility was heard to remark: "As for the beautiful cement seats, ornamented with a Greek frieze, they are more lookable than sitable."

A guest from abroad at Piedmont recently, gazing out upon a lovely garden, all abloom with roses, said: "But, my dear, why don't you have breakfast and luncheon out here, and sometimes dinner?"

The little hostess gave a worried look around. "Because," she answered, "the cook and maid would leave!"

So even to the heart of a Californian garden does the old "Domestic Service Problem" raise its head to worry the dear little hostess even in the heart of the roses!

OAKLAND GIRLS ARE ADMIRERS AT DEL MONTE.

Among the echoes from Del Monte one hears many compliments to the Oakland girls who were there. And foremost among them is Miss Josephine Johnson, who won the golf tournament in magnificent fashion. She is one of the leading golfers of the state, and she plays a game that is steadily improving. Miss Johnson is a charming girl, and she spends much time on the Del Monte links. She gives her own machine at Del Monte with great skill, and is always one of the most popular girls at that historic seaside resort.

A trio of exceedingly attractive girls were the Misses Dorothy and Phyllis Capwell, who must be reckoned among the belles of the season. Wherever they go, at the St. Francis or Palace dancers, at Del Monte, at Coronado, there is always the same story of social success. They are very lovely girls—Miss Dorothy is beautiful and Miss Phyllis is most picturesquely pretty. They have been most carefully educated, and have traveled extensively, and they are always accompanied by their mother, who is specially kind to young people and who plans many good times for them.

With the Capwells was Miss Phyllis Lovell, a very dainty, pretty girl, and one who has always more partners than she can dance with. Among the interesting girls at Del Monte for the recent week, and was Miss Ernestine McNear, who received the many good wishes of her friends with a sweetness and dignity that was altogether charming.

Mrs. E. R. Folger chaperoned her niece, Miss Alice Smith, the attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis Smith. She is a very young girl, still in her convent days, but very sweet, and one hears that she is both bright and clever.

Miss Kathleen Farrell of San Francisco was also at Del Monte. She is one of the leading belles across the bay, and a lovely girl, who has been so carefully educated that she is very unspoiled.

Among the young men at Del Monte were Jack Neville, whose fame as a golfer is now part of the nation's athletic record; Frank Kales, Sydney Howard and Dalila Thomson.

HOW SOME ARE SPENDING SEASON.

The Egbert Stones entertained a large party over the Fourth of July holidays, and among the young men who spent delightful days in their camp were Dean Witter, Dan Volkman and Herbert Schmidt.

Other guests spending the summer with the Stones were Miss Elsie Posey and Miss Helen Hinckley.

Cecil Posey came from Arizona to spend the holiday time with his mother, Mrs. A. C. Posey, in her home on Vernon street. Mr. Posey is making a splendid record in his chosen profession of railroading, and he is to be in Los Angeles for the next four months.

Miss Cleo Posey, the bright and very attractive daughter of Mr. Posey, is visiting friends in Sacramento. Before returning to Oakland she will spend some time in Grass Valley. Miss Posey is very popular, so it is no wonder that she is a welcome guest in any home.

STONES RETURN FROM DEL MONTE.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stone and their daughter, Miss Allison Stone, returned to town this week, having spent a pleasant vacation at Del Monte. Miss Stone is also a most attractive girl, whose school days are not ended, and who has not yet made her debut.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh are planning to spend part of the summer in their place at Applegate, in the heart of the Sierras. The Walshes are exceedingly thoughtful of the other members of their family, and they play delightful vacation outings for them.

Among those who returned recently from Honolulu was Miss Eleanor Day.

possession of their new home on Russian Hill, across the bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Athearn Folger and their three daughters, the Misses Cunningham, are in London. The girls of the family have been abroad several months, and they were re-cattle ranges and extensive lumber interests.

Miss Charlotte Playter and her niece, Miss Georgia Playter, spent some interesting weeks of the summer in New York. A few days ago they sailed for Europe, and they are planning to travel extensively on the continent.

Mrs. Beach Soule left for the east last week, and she will spend part of the season with friends who have a been planned by them for Mrs. Fenwick.

Flounces, lace, tucks, ruffles and wrinkles—here are all of them as exemplified in the very latest "thing" from the Parisian dressmakers. The gowns—or many like them—are on their way to America as the Gay City's contribution to milady's collection of furbelows.

Pictured are two phases of the newest version of the princess robe with flounced skirt created by Ernest. As will be seen it silhouettes rather than defines the figure, being gauged back and front. It is fashioned of pale-pink taffetas, the flounces being of silk net and the sash of velvet of a deep marine-blue shade. A striking gown of mouseline de soie designed by one of Paris' leading costumers whose reputation is world-wide is also seen. Another costume, by a famed Paris designer, is also pictured.

Several guests crossed the bay this afternoon for the bridge party given by Miss Florence Wendling in honor of Miss Marjorie Emmons and Miss Florence Orr. Miss Emmons, who is the fiancée of Albert Coogan, will be one of the bridesmaids at the Orr-Jorgensen wedding on the 22d. Miss Wendling's guests included Miss Margery Coogan, Miss Roberta Haelet, Miss Betty Glover Funston, Miss Helen Fowle, Miss Helen Gohr, Miss Esperance Untried, Miss Florence Gates, Miss Florence Sevik, Miss Bethel Bowden, Mrs. George Pressley, Mrs. Richard Sanders and Mrs. T. L. Blanchard of San Jose.

VISITORS IN BERKELEY.
Among interesting visitors in Berkeley are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Clapp. She is lecturing on art at the summer school. Mrs. Clapp is an artist of distinction who at one time studied under Whistler. She has many delightful reminiscences of the brilliant American whose eccentricities were as famous as his paintings. Mr. and Mrs. Clapp are being entertained at many informal affairs and are renewing friendships made on a visit to Berkeley three years ago.

AT VILLA REMI.
Miss Helen Dunning left today for a visit to Mrs. Remi Chabot at Villa Remi near St. Helena. Mrs. J. P. Dunn and her children are established there for the summer, and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Bocquerez are spending much time at the beautiful place that is always filled with guests.

VISITORS ENTERTAINED.
Mrs. Russell Tracy Crawford was hostess at an informal tea at her home in Hillside avenue, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. O. N. Mason of New Mexico who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mackley in Berkeley. Among the guests were Mrs. Henry Groer, Mrs. Glenn Wood, Mrs. Frank Stoler, Mrs. Ramsey Probasco, Mrs. Frank Sumner, Mrs. Mackley, Mrs. Louis Decoto, Miss Dagmar Games, and Mrs. Clarence Goslin of Santa Ana.

AT BROOKDALE.
Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Earl and Miss Elmer Earl are entertaining guests at their summer home in Brookdale, where they are established for the season. Miss Gene Bangs was among recent visitors.

How English Beauties Keep Faces Youthful

Christian Miller, P. C. L., noted English health expert, attributes the early aging of American women mainly to the "national nervousness." The women of England, he says, can teach us the invaluable lesson of repose.

Another valuable lesson to be learned from the English woman is that she does not go in much for cosmetics, the continual use of which must ruin any complexion. The beauty devotees of King George's realm have the unmerciful habit of using a peculiar action in keeping the face free from the particles of dirt and grease which are the cause of wrinkles.

Madame Ise'bell

Blames the Stiff Hat for the Hair Troubles of Men—Complete Baldness in Women Comparatively Rare.

HAIR PROBLEMS OF MIDDLE AGE. PART III.

The explanation of the hair structure given in a previous lesson shows the dependence of the hair on the nourishment provided by the blood. Any condition of the blood that interrupts or depletes this supply means thinning, falling or breaking hair. As a rule good health means good, normal hair and ill health the reverse.

There are exceptions to this rule for there are local and peculiar conditions that sometimes govern the growth of the hair. The oil supplied by the sebaceous glands is one of these.

If this supply is interrupted, the hair becomes harsh, dull and inclined to break; if it is over-abundant, the scalp becomes oily, the pores close and dandruff of a peculiarly unpleasant form is apt to result.

WHY MEN ARE BALD.
A thin, tight scalp means thin, impoverished hair. Luxuriant, glossy hair grows from a fat, loose scalp for the reason that this cushion of flesh provides room for a plentiful amount of blood vessels and oil glands. A tight scalp, that is one that adheres to the skull, is an abnormal condition that should be remedied by massage and friction as soon as it is perceived, for it is a symptom of approaching baldness.

You will note this condition on most bald-headed men. When the scalp is very tight and shiny it is generally an indication that the hair follicles are completely atrophied and that there is little chance that hair will ever again grow from them.

WOMEN RARELY ENTIRELY BALD.

As a rule women have fatter scalps than men. This is pointed out by some writers as a difference and the explanation as to why women have more luxuriant hair and are less prone to baldness. My experience, however, leads me to believe that this difference in the scalp is of comparatively recent date and due to man's incurable habit of over-washing his head, drenching it with agreeably smelling soaps and wearing a stiff hat that presses tightly on the big arteries on the side of the head that feed the scalp.

It is only modern man that has little hair. The ancient Britons were extremely proud of their abundant locks, and luxuriant flowing hair has been highly prized by men almost up to modern times. We know that the first Emperor, but he was so sensitive of this fact that he always concealed it by wearing a wreath of laurel.

CAUSES OF INSUFFICIENT HAIR.

Nervous, anaemic people are apt to have scanty locks. The hair is often an eruptive nature or accompanied with high fever is a cause for falling hair, although this may be followed by a new crop of hair more vigorous than the first. Neglect or improper care of the scalp will result in diminished locks. Climate even has an effect on the hair, both severe cold and heat being inimical to it. Less than I took up the effect of excessive perspiration on the hair and it must be admitted that women inhabiting a mild climate have a better chance for beautiful hair than those exposed to excessive heat or cold.

Certain functional changes in a woman's life which include cellular activity are often accompanied with an improvement in the hair. A girl's hair begins to thicken and grow longer at fourteen and women between forty and fifty, if in good physical health, are often gratified by a distinct improvement in the hair.

MINNESOTA CONVICTS ARE BASEBALL FANS

STILLWATER, Minn., July 11.—Marched in ranks like a company of infantry men six hundred convicts at the state penitentiary stood at attention on the prison field this afternoon, then at a word from Deputy Warden Sullivan, changed into a flash from green faced prisoners to wild-eyed baseball fans.

The fourth game of a series inaugurated by prison officials is being played today between two of the systems of the prison twice factory. The reform has been watched closely by guards who all declare that the Saturday half holiday, and the baseball enthusiasm, has proved wonderfully beneficial to the convicts.

BRYAN SENDS REFUSAL IN FRANKED ENVELOPE

RICHMOND, Ind., July 11.—Secretary of State Bryan is economical. Charles Jordan, secretary of the local Commercial Club, displayed yesterday a letter from Bryan in which he declined to deliver a lecture at the Richmond Chautauquians. This fact greatly surprised the Chautauquians, but more than that they were astonished that the personal letter had been sent in a government franked envelope.

Dangers of the Complexion

(By Lillian Russell)

Copyright, By LILLIAN RUSSELL.

I HAVE seen many women and men whose complexions would be vastly improved by the use of the complexion brush.

These persons are the unfortunate possessors of thick, coarse-pored, furrowed skins, which nothing but strenuous treatment will improve. No ordinary gentle manipulation will have the slightest effect upon such skins, neglect has hardened more like hides than complexions. Naturally the use of a scrubbing brush and some pure castile soap would be the only way to awaken the tissues to action and empty the pores of their secretions.

But in the cases of normal complexions the flesh brush is superfluous. I do not believe in too much friction upon the face. I do not think that electric massage treatment is beneficial to a fine skin. Both the complexion brush and electricity have the same effect, to stimulate circulation and bring color into the face, and they often leave a bad effect in reaction.

I have known of cases where the complexion, or scrubbing brush, has positively ruined fine skins. Soap in itself is injurious to the complexion, unless the purest is used, and that is hard to find, and even if it is of the purest quality it should be used sparingly and with discretion.

The hands are the best implements for washing the face, and they are preferable to even the most delicate sponges and wash cloths. The touch of the fingers can tell you when the soap is rinsed off the face; they never rub hard enough to hurt the cuticle in any way, whereas cloths, sponges and brushes have the power to rub the cuticle to the breaking point, causing roughness and blotches, which take months to heal.

The idea that a flesh brush will harden the tissues is a mistake. Anything that pulls or twists the facial muscles will loosen them, causing flabbiness and flabbiness is the first indication of age. Rather, pat the face gently with cleansing cream, then rub the cream off with a soft piece of linen or sterilized gauze, and bathe the face with plenty of cold water two or three times a day, using the hands for that purpose instead of sponge or wash cloth. The patting makes the face muscles firm, and the cold water strengthens the skin. A fine skin needs no more severe treatment than I have described.

Remember: You have but one face; you can make or break it by your treatment of it.

Lillian Russell

Answers to Queries.

M. J. N.: It is always difficult to cleanse the face properly when traveling, and it is almost impossible to remove the stains of travel with water and soap. Always carry a jar of good cold cream with you when traveling. Nothing will cleanse the face more thoroughly than a good cold cream. It takes little time to remove the dust and dirt. There are many good creams on the market, but I am unable to give you the name of one. If you wish my formula for cold cream, send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall be glad to send the formula to you.

SYLVIA: A simple exercise which will soon develop the arms if practiced daily is as follows: Extend the arms horizontally, then imagine a heavy weight in each hand; slowly force this weight up until the palms meet over the head, at the same time resisting the effort to raise the weight. Lower the arms and the imaginary weight in the same manner.

MISS R.: The best way to use the hair tonic is to apply it to the scalp with a medicine dropper and then massage it well into the scalp. This way you can get it all over the scalp without soaking the hair.

TROUBLED: I see no reason why you could not learn to massage your face. It is not hard to do, and if you follow instructions I do not think you will have any trouble. The skin food with massage will eradicate the tiny wrinkles that are starting and will also make your skin soft and remedy the dryness. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I shall send you instructions for massaging the face and formula for skin food.

D. C.: The defect of protruding ears can be covered by dressing your hair down over your ears. The only way to remedy this trouble is to use a cloth over them at night to hold the ears back close to the head. This process is slow, and it will take you some time to get the desired effect, but if you wish to succeed, you must have patience and be persistent.

OAKLAND'S BOYS & GIRLS

TO TEACH JOURNALISM IN M. T. AND C. HIGH

Woodburn Scott has been elected the editor-in-chief of the Scribe at the Manual Training and Commercial High School. Carl Riegleman, manager and Will Steve, financial manager.

Journalism and short-story writing will be branches of English work in the Manual Training and Commercial High School next fall. Two instructors will be added to the course. The studies will form an important part of the freshman and sophomore years.

Next January, the local board of Education will introduce in the drama, which will be an elective study. Public speaking and journalism will also be elective subjects. Many boys and girls have already stated that they will enroll in the new course, which will be conducted by skilled teachers.

Girls Musicians

RUTH KOELTZ.

Bands will be reorganized in all the Oakland schools upon the opening of the Fall term July 30. During the past year musical societies were established in about twenty schools of this city. A large consignment of instruments arrived from the East prior to the close of the spring season. Clubs for the promotion of music are being organized in all the schools.

Among the talented pianists of this city are Ruth Koeltz, Gladys Holmes, Marion Burkhalter, Gladys Washburn, Elizabeth Cummings and Ruth Vande Per.

(See clubs have been established in a number of the grammar schools and the members of the organizations assisted in the commencement day exercises, which closed the schools on June 27.

WIFE WANTS ALIMONY But Minstrel Man Says That He's Too Poor

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—"All I have to show for forty-three years' work on the stage, in black-face, in a pair of clogs and a wig," was the vocabulary of George Primrose, the minstrel, when he announced his retirement in Los Angeles a month ago.

George Primrose, according to all reports, is building a bungalow in the outskirts of Los Angeles and is furnishing it with these assets as a foundation.

"I have reason to believe that Mr. Primrose is worth upward of $500,000," says Mrs. E. N. Primrose, now at the St. Francis awaiting the payment of a hotel bill.

"I have information that Mrs. Stone is now in Los Angeles," resumed Mrs. Primrose, "and that she is having more than considerable to say about the arrangement of the bungalow and its furnishings. One of the causes of the trouble between Mr. Primrose and me was his actions with women."

Close inquiry is being made in San Francisco and Los Angeles as to George Primrose's possessions.

GIRLS' CLUB SEEKS 'OLD-FASHIONED LOVE'

AURORA, Ill., July 11.—Inspired by the theory of an Eastern professor that the world needs more "old-fashioned love," the Love-Making Club has been organized by a number of girls.

SAN FRANCISCO WOMAN TO HEAD AUXILIARY

SANTA ROSA, July 11.—The auxiliary association of the Veterans' Association of Northern California, which has been holding a joint encampment here, named its officers for the ensuing year yesterday as follows:

M. C. Farmer of 3548 Twentieth street, San Francisco, president; Mrs. Arabella Dougherty, Santa Rosa, senior vice-president; Mrs. Nellie Wyland, Santa Rosa, junior vice-president; Mrs. M. C. Ayers, 1125 Russell street, Berkeley, secretary.

-THE MEDDLER-

(Con. From Preceding Page)

She is an exceedingly attractive girl, and the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Henshaw.

Dr. and Mrs. David Starr Jordan are in Paris, but they are planning to leave that city this week, and they will go on to London, and they may possibly return to the United States in the autumn.

Travelers will return earlier than usual this season, because of politics, and also because of affairs connected with the Panama exposition. So it happens that social clubs will be scheduled much earlier than usual, and already one hears of coming important August affairs. But it is all in the day's work. It is a good world and it rolls merrily on down Time's big highway.

ENLISTED MEN TO SMOKE PET BRAND

Secretary Orders the Retention and Extension of Tobacco and Other Supplies.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—General satisfaction was expressed today throughout naval circles when it became known that Secretary Daniels, contrary to expectations, had authorized the retention of popular brands of tobacco and articles which it had been rumored would be denied admission to the commissary stores.

The action of the secretary following the enforcement of his order abolishing the officers' wine mess, officially upset what had become a general belief among the enlisted men that they, too, would be denied certain proprietary articles which they had heretofore enjoyed. Under the new order not only will these articles which have been carried in the commissary departments be retained, but it is intended to assure greater latitude of choice to the men by admitting additional brands of tobacco and personal commodities. In announcing his decision, Secretary Daniels said:

"I firmly believe that the enlisted men of the fleet should be allowed to buy what they want. I feel that in purchasing these supplies I am acting as trustee for the man and that it is my duty to make this possible so far as lies in my power.

Under the excuse that the majority of the men wished particular brands I found that purchases had been confined in many cases to one brand of toilet articles or tobacco. Under the new plan there will be a far greater variety of brands in each line. Commissary stores ashore and afloat will offer the men as nearly as possible the same variety to select from that they would have in a civilian store.

TO RESTORE GALLANTRY AMONG NAVAL CADETS

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Holding that gallantry is an alienable right in every male citizen, Representative Britton of Illinois has started the war path against a naval academy regulation prohibiting the naval cadets from visiting the women of the city.

MINOR RACES OPEN.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 11.—With a large entry list of the classiest horses in the West entered, a 30-days' racing meet began on the Minors Park track here this afternoon. Many of the horses that raced in the Denver meet which closed July 4 were brought here.

WOMAN AND BABES RESCUED FROM WRECK

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—After having been cast away for nearly five months on a lonely island off the west coast of Mexico, Captain Jens Jensen, skipper of the lost schooner Nokomis, his wife and their two babes in arms, Mary and Edith, and eight members of the the Pacific Mail liner City of Sydney. The voyage which the Nokomis began last January from the Columbia river, the wreck of the vessel on the jagged reefs of Clipperton Island, the hardships suffered by the woman and children and their rescue through the heroism of those of their company by the United States cruiser Cleveland make a thrilling tale of the sea.

"We are all very thankful that we were saved," said Mrs. Jensen yesterday. "There were times when I thought the little ones would not survive, but Providence was with us and brought us safely through wreck and the dangers that followed."

WOMAN LEAPS TO DEATH IN CANAL

FRESNO, July 11.—Two months after having shot herself in the breast in an attempt to end her life, Mrs. Martha E. Chapman of Caruthers stole from her bed, tied an iron cart wheel about her neck and jumped into an irrigating canal in front of her home.

The woman was missed at midnight, and her body was found in the water about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Chapman had been in poor health, and this is the reason advanced for her suicide. She leaves a grown son and daughter. She was 50 years of age and came here a few years ago from Illinois.

GIRLS' WED QUICK OR PAY EXPORT TAX!

PARIS, July 11.—The proposal in the United States to tax American girls marrying titled foreigners has suggested the idea of taxing for titled Frenchmen who marry American girls. The argument is that titles ought to rank with the old masters and be made liable to export duty.

The following scale of taxes is advocated: Duke, $1,000,000; prince, $500,000; marquis, $250,000; baron, $150,000; count, $100,000.

REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE NATIONAL MEETING ENDS

PITTSBURGH, July 11.—Election of officers for 1915, the selection of next year's convention city, committee and board meetings today closed the annual sessions at the Hotel Schenley here of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges. Fred G. Smith of Minneapolis led the "question box" today. Addresses for the day were listed as follows: "Dollars and Sense," by Thomas Shillcross, Jr., of Philadelphia; "The Capital City," by John Weaver, president of the Washington, D. C., Realty Association; "My Impressions of My First Convention," by A. R. McManis, K. C., of Montreal, associate counsel for Canada; "Scientific Appraisals," Fletcher Cowherd, president of the Kansas City Realty Association. The convention expected to adjourn early in the afternoon and the remainder of the day was to be devoted to sightseeing or getting away.

TOUR RAINBOW TRAIL

MONTEPRO, Cto., July 11.—The combined Grand Junction and Montrose auto tourists, who are making a run over the old Rainbow Trail to Pueblo, left here today on the second leg of their journey. Two dozen machines joined the Grand Junction contingent here. The party will reach Gunnison at noon and continue on to Salida this afternoon. Tomorrow the trip will be continued through Canon City to Pueblo. The trip was deemed principally to demonstrate the feasibility of using the Rainbow Trail as part of a transcontinental highway.

San Francisco Must Keep Hands Off City of Oakland

No one questions the sincerity of purpose of the officials and members of civic bodies of Oakland and San Francisco who met in the latter city and attempted to make a tentative agreement that for a period of ten years "or more" no attempts will be made to overstep county boundaries in an attempt to create a "Greater San Francisco" so far as Alameda County is concerned, this tentative agreement to be followed by a bill to be submitted as a constitutional amendment, for the perfection of which another meeting will be held in Oakland some two weeks hence. The Oakland members did not, of course, make any agreement, the suggestion made coming

In the first place the citizens of the state showed their confidence in the integrity of Oakland two years ago, when by a majority of more than 130,000 they disapproved of the proposition of San Francisco to cross the bay.

Oakland has no objection to San Francisco expanding and is perfectly willing that she shall annex territory on the peninsula, if the citizens are willing, but Oakland will not stand for the agreement proposed. In the first place there is no assurance that it will be kept. How can the gentlemen who are parties to it control the actions of a city of 500,000 people when under the law an insignificant minority may at any time invoke the initiative and compel a vote on the proposition? Five per cent of the voters of the state can initiate such law and the practice of signing petitions is so general that little difficulty would be experienced in once again bringing this matter before the electorate.

Let Oakland alone! Next year is the great exposition year and this city wants to be at peace with San Francisco. Oakland wants to help San Francisco make a grand success of that world's fair, to aid it in every manner possible; to go there and spend money; to contribute in every legitimate manner toward making it the greatest event of the kind in history. Oakland glories in the progress of the Queen City of California, envies her nothing of her achievements, is proud of her accomplishments. But Oakland has a destiny she wants to work out and desires to do it side by side with San Francisco, not as a part of her corporate limits. To that end this city insists that San Francisco shall not attempt to eat up in an effort to enlarge her dominions, and if San Francisco insists, Oakland will fight the plan to the bitter end, and it will be a fight that will long be remembered.

Oakland demands a law that will forever prevent San Francisco from crossing the bay for the purpose of encroaching upon territory. If this proposed agreement is made and a law submitted, then Oakland will go through the State of California and once more appeal to the people of the state to aid her in preserving her identity as the third largest city in California, confident that appeal will not be made in vain.

But if we are forced into this battle what will happen to San Francisco? Every interior county in this state will be lined up against San Francisco's attempt to slaughter the independence of the "Athens of the Pacific" and her sister cities.

Let us have war if you will, but we prefer peace.

Two Good Men Will Win.

To date no one has had the temerity to enter the race for City Police Judge in opposition to Judge Mortimer Smith and George Samuels. This condition is due to the splendid record made by each of the magistrates during their long tenure of office. In the fourteen years and twelve years of their incumbency, respectively, Judges Smith and Samuels have made a record that has placed Oakland in the front rank of the great cities of the state respecting the disposition of petty criminals. By their course of conduct they have kept the city clean and each in his capacity as judge of minor offenses has been a terror to the evil-doer. All sorts of petty criminals have kept clear of Oakland, knowing that an error of conduct would bring its merited punishment.

There will be—in all probability—no opponents of these two good men and both will be elected at the August primary, as they should be.

Visitors to Santa Cruz report that during the rush of dining hours in that popular seaside resort there is a lack of concentrated effort on the part of the waiters in the restaurants and cafes which results in much exasperation; that the corps of servants in the several eating places lack discipline and as a result the stranger within the gates has to waste a great deal of time that might otherwise be expended in "taking in" the various attractions at the beach and other places. This recital is not to be considered as "a knock," but a suggestion to the cafe men to have their employees "get a move on" when serving crowds.

Commenting on the fact that in addressing his constituents no Hottentot may speak longer than he can stand on one foot, the Stockton Record opines that the rule might be introduced into this country to the great pleasure of the people. Oh, Fudge! In that event the Record's candidate for Governor in this campaign wouldn't have time to exhaust his first channel of "I" mats.

Alfreda Noriega, a friend of General Blanquets, speaking of Huerta, says the dictator is drunk almost all of the time during his waking hours; that he goes from cafe to cafe drinking all sorts of liquors. Evidently Huerta is trying to drown his sorrows in tequila and sleep.

Placer County farmers have organized to fight the proposed eight-hour law. The movement is very general through the State. It is argued, very truthfully, that while a manufacturing institution may be controlled by rule, there is little law to regulate nature.

Just the same when spanking was the rule and not the exception there were less juvenile courts.

STATEMENT OF FACTS REGARDING THE UNIVERSITY BOND MATTER

The enrollment of the University of California during the last academic year much exceeded seven thousand. The increase in the undergraduate attendance last year over that of the previous year was approximately 20 per cent. Annually theretofore the university's attendance has similarly increased, and the prospects are that in the coming academic year it will be largely increased over the past year. The problem, therefore, has become a most serious one to afford adequate classroom and laboratory facilities to the vast number of students that go to Berkeley.

All sorts of make-shifts have been resorted to by the Regents to get classroom space; but the Regents now have exhausted all their resources in that regard. During this last academic year were curtailed in order to use the gymnasium for classes. Several professors assembled their classes in the gymnasium. In two instances such classes aggregated over 600 students. There is no lecture hall at the university that will accommodate such a sized class. The Greek Theater, of course, is not available for such purposes on account of weather conditions during the winter. There is great need, therefore, at the university for a lecture hall that will accommodate about 1500 people.

The great growth in the chemistry department at the university requires immediately the construction of a large chemical building with adequate laboratory facilities. Chemistry is one of the most valuable studies. It is related to almost all of the physical sciences, and especially agriculture. The great growth in the university in instruction in agriculture has caused a corresponding increase of students in chemistry, and also has rendered the present facilities for agricultural instruction generally at the university wholly inadequate. A new building in agriculture is imperatively needed.

More classroom facilities of all other departments are also a compelling necessity. The old North Hall, built about forty-five years ago, is a frame building and in the decrepitude of old age. The building is also a fire menace to the Doe Library, and is likewise, because of its inflammable character, a fire menace to the 1500 odd students that daily attend classrooms therein.

Several sessions of the legislature during the past ten years have recognized the necessity of replacing the North Hall by a new classroom building of much larger dimensions. The last legislature passed an act appropriating $400,000 for such a building, but it was vetoed by the governor on the ground that the state revenues were inadequate to supply the money. Conditions have now developed to such an extent that it is imperatively necessary, if the university is to carry on its work, that money be immediately afforded the university for the construction of a chemistry building, agriculture buildings, and up-to-date classroom buildings, including proper auditorium facilities for large classes.

Some years ago Mr. Charles F. Doe, by will, gave the university the sum of $700,000 for a library building. This building was erected and so constructed that it could be enlarged later on. So great has been the growth of the university, however, that the time has come when this library building must be enlarged. A great library is the center of a university.

A careful estimate has been made of the amount of money necessary to extend and complete the Doe Library and also to construct the other necessary buildings. It is found that the cost will be approximately $1,800,000.

It is realized that the state revenues will not be adequate to provide this sum through the usual means. The only alternative is to provide this sum of money by a bond issue. There is no good reason why future generations which will have the use of such buildings should not pay a portion of the cost thereof. Accordingly, the Alumni Association of the University of California has taken up the matter of presenting a bill to the electorate through the means of the initiative. By this means the emergent needs of the university may be presented to the electorate at the fall election, thus avoiding at least two years' delay. The Alumni Association is now circulating in Oakland and other communities petitions, which must be filed soon, to get the requisite number of signatures required by the initiative to put this law upon the ballot.

The University of California has brought a great deal of prestige upon the state, and the fact that it has developed into such a great means for learning is the occasion of attracting to the state the very best class of people from the East and elsewhere. When the secretary of agriculture was recently in California, together with the secretary of the treasury, on the trip which they took throughout the United States in assembling data on which to base decision as to the location of the Federal reserve banks, the secretary of agriculture, in a speech to the Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco, stated that for many years it had been his practice to determine the grade of intelligence of a state by the extent to which the state gave to its university. He further stated that, upon examining the record of California in regard to its university before he came to California, he had decided that San Francisco should be the seat of one of the Federal reserve banks. He stated that he based his decision solely upon the fact that the state of California was dealing intelligently and generously with the great institution of learning at Berkeley. This is but an illustration of the results that are coming to California because the great work the state is carrying on through the university.

Most of the important buildings on the university campus have been the gifts of benefactors. Mrs. Hearst built the Mining building; Charles F. Doe's legacy produced the Library building. So it has gone. There are many other benefactions of a like character. By the will of Ernst Cowell, $750,000 was left to the university for necessary buildings and used. The University of California has been the recipient of more gifts than any other state university in the United States. The recent Hooper benefaction of over one million dollars to the university for medical research is an indication of the favor in which the University of California is held. Over $600,000 was recently given by a number of donors to the university for the construction of a teaching hospital. Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst and others have given with almost imperial liberality to the university.

The state, by giving necessary equipment, will tend to attract further and even larger benefactions to the university. President Elliot of Harvard at one time stated that it had become a disgrace for any very rich man to die in Massachusetts without leaving a benefaction to the Harvard University. Evidently in California it is becoming more and more the vogue to make the University of California the object of benefactions. No more worthy object could possibly be found.

The editress of the Colusa Sun writes of the "newly-fledged women of the republic," from which we infer that the summer hat is now in vogue everywhere.

Perhaps it was Noah who ate the forbidden fruit, but who could blame the man after that long cruise of his?

Twenty Years Ago Today

The first conflict in California between the authorities and the strikers took place at Sacramento. It was a bloody one, among its victims being Sam Clark, an engineer who formerly lived at 933 Wood street in this city, and was an engineer, before the strike, on the overland run. He has a brother who is an engineer on the Berkeley local train. The other victims were three soldiers and two trainmen and two other regulars, who are missing and believed to be lying dead beneath a train which the strikers wrecked. The carnival of blood started when the railroad company, under protection of the United States troops, started the Eastern overland and mail for San Francisco. The engine was manned by Sam Clark and a non-union fireman and a number of regulars were on the train. Two and a half miles from the town is a culvert and trestle. As the train moved on to the trestle was ditched. As the cars turned over, shots rang out from the bushwork, where the strikers had awaited in ambush the approach of the train. Engineer Clark fell at the first shot. Upon receipt of the news General Graham ordered out a company of cavalry to the scene. Harry Knox, leader of the strikers, emphatically denied that the men who fired on troops were strikers.

At the time the fight between the Southern Pacific officials and the strikers was on, all forces were in the city. A declaration under President Cleveland's proclamation at all points where the strikers came in contact with the officers in the afternoon there was a turbulent scene in East Oakland. A host of strikers appeared at Prockly and seizing two trains lying there ditched them. They did this because the railroads had succeeded in getting trains out of San Jose. The men were demonstrative in their declarations that not a train shall pass that way. Engineer John McCauley, engineer went over to Pacific avenue to clear the tracks of derailed cars. Engine 16, in charge of Engineer Bob Elliott and his regular fireman went down to the Alameda mole to make up a train for Santa Cruz which was to be taken down by Engineer Tommy O'Neill. Other engines were also being fired up to take out Southern Division Superintendent Wilder has thrown down the gauntlet to the strikers. He said that trains would be running at the mole before night. The strikers are expected to interfere and a royal battle is sure to follow. Captain Cummings, who is in charge of the deputy marshals at the mole received orders to send some of his men out with a first train to guard the mole. Cummings at once notified his men and they were instructed to be ready at a moment's notice to make the trip. They will go out heavily armed and will be given strict orders in regard to their duties.

Peculiar and Pertinent

Two recent loads of logs were recently hauled into Kennebunk, Me., one weighing 2400 feet. Each log was hauled by a single span of horses, except on two hills where both spans drew up the two loads, one after the other.

Up to the present time no less than 31 aeroplane pilots have jumped the loop of these. Hansel an Englishman, and Gilbert a Frenchman, have looped the loop with passengers.

OIL MINER STRIKES GOLD WHEN DRILLING

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., July 11.—Gold ore assaying $10 per ton has been found in an oil well drilled by Andrew L. Baker on the Elia Schultz farm, west of Burkhardt, it is reported.

The ore was penetrated by the drill in a formation known as the "big lime" at a depth of 2000 feet. An assay found it to contain both gold and silver.

The discovery created no excitement because of the cost of sinking a shaft and the possibility that the deposit is only a pocket which makes it improbable an attempt will be made to mine it.

MONARCHS' PET HORRORS

The mad monarch, unfortunate Otto of Bavaria, has a strong aversion to the thing which he once loved best. He cannot bear lakes or rivers, though once he used to delight in rowing.

His brother, Ludwig II, who reigned over Bavaria before him, and was also insane, in like manner turned against the music in which he once took the greatest joy.

Ludwig was the great friend and advisor of Wagner, and Wagner's death, in 1883, nearly killed him. He at once ordered all the pianos upon which Wagner had played to be draped in crepe, and never afterward would allow music of any sort in his palace.

The present Kaiser is well known to be a man of an intense practical mind the very last one would imagine to be influenced by any dread of the supernatural. Yet those who know him best would never dream of mentioning within his hearing the "White Lady" of the great royal estate at Konigsberg.

The present Kaiser is well known to be a man of an intense practical mind the very last one would imagine to be influenced by any dread of the supernatural. Yet those who know him best would never dream of mentioning within his hearing the "White Lady" of the great royal estate at Konigsberg.

There the walled-up passage remains to the present day, and no King of Prussia has ever dared to enter it.

meddled with. The Red Prince, the Kaiser's son, was once approached upon the subject by a well-known antiquarian. He consented, but the old King, who was still alive, refused to allow it "for reasons," as he said "only known to himself."

SIGNIFICANCE OF PRESS

At the Ethnological Society Mark Webb gave a lecture entitled "Clothes and Character," in which he discussed the historical and moral significance of dress.

Dress, he said, illustrated the innate conservatism of humanity by a large number of interesting survivals. Among these was the hatband, the original purpose of which was to hold a piece of cloth or linen around the head.

He exhibited a slide of an Egyptian figure dated 3500 B. C., the headgear of which consisted of a piece of linen with a band tied around terminating in two tails at the back, and a survival of this he pointed out, is to be found in the tails of the present day Scottish bonnet and sailor's cap.

Again, the origin of the clock on stockings was that they were a species of ornamentation to hide the seams where the stuff was joined together. Further he instanced the points on the back of gloves. These stripes of broad were used to cover the seams in the gloves of early times.

Perhaps the most interesting of these survivals was the chaperon which was a common article of apparel in the reign of Richard II. This was a head dress derived from the hood and the cape which were original worn separate. In time the two became joined for the sake of convenience so that they could be donned together. Extra-garment fashion lengthened out the top of the hood until it nearly reached the ground and this prolongation was called a hennip.

Next it was ordained that the whole should be twisted up around the head, so that it was in the beginning a lane with jagged edges at the top and one side like a cockscomb. This was the source of the modern cockade, which shows the razed edges sticking up, and also of the rosette which represented a coiled-up hennip.

Men of fashion when they tired of parading suits of clothes had always given them away to their servants and this resulted in some styles of servants' costume familiar to us in modern days.

The groom, for instance, represented a gentleman of the beginning of the nineteenth century, and he still wore the belt which ladies used to hold onto when doing behind on the pillow. The footman, with plush breeches and powdered hair, was a gentleman of George III, the sheriff's coachman, with full-skirted coat and wig was a gentleman of George II, while the lord mayor's coachman and suite were very fine gentlemen of George III.

In the twentieth century the pace had quickened and we now handed on our evening clothes to the waiters who stood behind us at the dinner table.

Mr. Webb then passed on to discuss the moral side of the question of dress. Dress was evolved for several reasons. Neither consideration of warmth nor instincts of modesty, which was in itself a fashion, could completely account for it. In some African tribes "clothes" women went without clothes, whereas only the bad women wore them, hence the difficulty met with by missionaries to get their converts to adopt our western standard of civilization in this respect.

After a great national upheaval in a country it was common for a period of extra elegant costume to prevail, such as the case of the "Merveilles" in Paris after the French revolution. In this country a similar revolution, though happily unattended with bloodshed, was now taking place and it was apparently being accompanied by similar effusiveness of fashion.—New York Sun.

NEW MYSTERY IN NELMS CASE FLOOD AND LIGHTNING KILL

NO TRACE OF SISTERS FOUND

Former Carson Official Denies Tale Related by Woman

Threatened Brother on Way East; Oakland Police on Alert

While no clue as to the whereabouts of the woman has been unearthed by detectives, considerable light upon the tangled threads of death and circumstances surrounding her supposed trip across the continent in order to murder her brother, Marshall Nelms, was cast today on the queer case of Mrs. Eloise Dennis.

Victor E. Innes, former assistant district attorney of Carson City, Nev., reported to have been engaged to her, was located in Portland. He gave a complete description of the woman and told of attempts and threats made by her to kill herself and also of threats made to kill her brother. The woman was his legal client, he said.

Armed with the description and believing that she may be hiding on the side of the bay, the Oakland police have redoubled their search for the woman and the San Francisco police are scouring the other side of the bay. Reports are also in the hands of Chief of Police August Vollmer of Berkeley.

BROTHER GAVE CLUE.

Nelms, who placed the case in the hands of the San Francisco police when his mother wired him that Mrs. Dennis had killed her sister and was seeking his life, refused to give a description of the woman, even after appealing to the police for protection. It was he, however, who told them of Innes, asserting that his sister and Innes had been engaged and that he believed Innes might know of her whereabouts.

Unable to give any idea either as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Dennis or her sister, Beatrice Nelms, supposed to have been murdered from letters of the mother, who received this information in an incoherent letter signed by Mrs. Dennis after the two had started away on a trip together, Innes, however, furnished the first descriptions of the missing women. Here are the descriptions:

Beatrice Nelms is a blonde, 25 years old. She is a self-reliant, business woman and is brusque in manner. She is of medium height and has blue eyes.

Eloise Nelms is a brunette, 30 years old. She is slender and talkative. She is slightly taller than Beatrice.

The younger daughter, supposedly murdered, was engaged in the real estate business in Atlanta, Ga., and had amassed a considerable fortune.

THREAT AND WARNING.

A letter, received by Mrs. John W. Nelms, the mother of the two girls, at Atlanta, Ga., started the story of the double tragedy. This letter, signed by Mrs. Dennis, declared that she had killed her sister during a trip they were on and was going to kill her brother in San Francisco. Mrs. Nelms wired her son, who turned the warning over to the police.

The mother, according to word from Atlanta, disapproved of the friendship between her daughter Eloise and Innes, and is said to have cut the woman out of her will on account of it. Mrs. Nelms declares that Mrs. Dennis trusted the attorney with her fortune, which he invested, according to his claim, in Mexican lands.

Mrs. Nelms explains that Beatrice Nelms accompanied Mrs. Dennis on the present trip to witness the marriage of her sister and Innes. But Innes has been married for some time and has been living in Portland.

Mrs. Dennis was married to Walter N. Dennis, an Atlanta printer, in 1905. They were divorced.

BROTHER DEPARTS.

Nelms, her brother, has left San Francisco for Atlanta, where he intends further to investigate the queer case.

The statement of Innes, located in Portland as wired the local authorities, tells of one of Mrs. Dennis' attempts at suicide, as follows:

"She told me that her grounds for divorce were that her husband failed to support her as a Southern gentleman should support his wife. She set herself up as a Southern belle of 25 or 26 and her case seemed to me to be peculiarly deserving. When she was in a fit of melancholy at one time she said she took a revolver and stood before a mirror. Pointing the gun at her head, she said she pulled the trigger, but it failed to discharge. That, she explained, was a second or third attempt, and the failure rather took her nerve and she said she had not tried it since then."

"Mrs. Dennis was not particularly attractive, as I remember her, but she was striking, very emotional, and a good actress. She told me during the case that she had been sought by wealthy men."

TO SWEAR OUT WARRANT DESERTED BRIDES TO CO-OPERATE "LOVE PIRATE" ESCAPES

MRS. FREDERICK KEATS HAMILTON, THE FIRST, LOS ANGELES WIFE OF ALLEGED BIGAMIST.

Mrs. Alice Young Hamilton, one of the wives of Frederick Keats Hamilton, "love pirate," in the south, has collapsed at her home in Los Angeles, according to news received by the police here and is today in a serious condition as a result of the affair. Mrs. Bertha Allett Connor Hamilton, whom he deserted in Oakland, is now also in Los Angeles. In the meantime, it is declared, his latest bride, Mrs. "Johnny" Mae Dunbar, a wealthy stock widow, may still be with him. Mrs. Dunbar had been living in Oakland with her sister and it was here that she and Hamilton met.

Both the Los Angeles wives of Hamilton declare that they will not rest until he is behind bars, and should he be brought to California, they will both swear out bigamy warrants.

Prosecutor at Carson City, Nev., last night denied practically all allegations identifying him with the missing Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis, except that he had added her, as attorney, in getting her divorce in 1911 and 1912. He denied that he knew of the whereabouts of Mrs. Dennis now and said that all he had heard from her since the divorce was granted was in letters settling business connected with the divorce.

Innes said the report from Atlanta that a woman represented herself to be Mrs. Mims or Mives was news to him, as he had no aunt by that name. He denied also that he had been in Atlanta or that he was negotiating any Mexican investments.

Innes emphatically denied the report that he ever had been engaged to Mrs. Dennis.

"I have a wife with whom I have been ever since leaving Nevada," he said. "The only letters I have had have been in connection with the collection of alimony, disposition of the Dennis child and filing of the decree. I haven't the slightest idea in the world where either of the women are."

SHE INTENDED SUICIDE.

"At the time of the divorce proceedings, however, Mrs. Dennis told me she had planned to commit suicide one or two times. She also said she had planned to kill her sister. She said once she would like to get the thing settled and end her own life. Personally I never saw the sister or the husband."

"At the time Mrs. Dennis was in Carson seeking a divorce, Mrs. Innes resided with me in Reno, there being more social life in Reno and the two cities being separated by only a few miles."

Hamilton, sought by the Oakland police, according to the report, left her home in Oakland, leaving a deserted wife in Oakland and a trail of broken hearts and bad checks in the south, has escaped again. The police thought they had him in Boston. While Chief of Police Petersen and the district attorney's office argued over extradition he silently stole out of the hub city and now is in parts unknown.

Whether Hamilton will ever be brought to California to face the four wives he is alleged to have bigamously married and deserted is a question, according to the Oakland police. The accused Lothario, whose exploits in love have outmastered those of "Sir" Harry Westwood Cooper, was sought in Oakland on bad check charges and also on a charge of defrauding Mrs. W. A. Kinsler, sister of the Oakland woman he married, out of $350.

during the divorce proceedings for Mrs. Dennis.

The police here have made no effort to detain Innes. He maintains a residence in Portland, but soon will move to Salt Lake.

Innes said when Mrs. Dennis came to Reno and Carson for her divorce he was impressed that she was out of the usual run of divorce seekers which came to these two cities and that as her story was plausible he took her case, although he knew it was unusual for an attorney in the employ of the government, as he was, to take divorce cases.

"Mrs. Dennis came to me for legal advice after she had been in Nevada the required six months," he said. "I had never met her before. I also never have met any of her relatives mentioned. The case came up in the latter part of 1911 or early in 1912. Mrs. Dennis showed a great affection for her son and said she wanted to kill herself so the $20,000 or $30,000 life insurance she carried could go to the boy."

NO TRACE IN ATLANTA.

Atlanta, Ga., July 11.—Information is lacking here as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis, believed to have signed a letter received here by her mother which said she had killed her sister in New Orleans, was preparing to slap her brother in San Francisco and then would commit suicide.

Police officials in San Francisco, New Orleans and Houston, Dallas and San Antonio, Texas, where Mrs. Dennis and her sister, Miss Beatrice Nelms, planned to visit, failed to find any trace of the pair.

Mrs. John W. Nelms, mother of the missing women, continued to believe her daughters were victims of a contrived in New Orleans on June 10, after their departure from here, the proceeds of which were to be used in completing Mexican investments made by Mrs. Dennis.

FILLMORE IS DREADNAUGHT MENAGED BY FINE FINE

Great Crowd Sees Early Morning Blaze in Western Addition Stores.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Two stores were destroyed and two others damaged in a spectacular Fillmore street fire which broke out at 3:15 o'clock this morning in the heart of the Western Addition shopping district, causing a loss of $25,000.

The fact that the blaze originated almost next door to the firehouse occupied by Chemical Company No. 2 and Truck Company No. 5 was probably the only thing that prevented the entire block from falling prey to the flames. As it was, the blaze was of a most exciting nature. The flames shot up 100 feet in the air, and despite the unseasonably hour, the streets were soon thronged with sightseers.

The Oriental Bazaar, 1642 Fillmore street, C. Hunda, manager, lost $5000 in stock, insurance $4000; and the shoe store of John T. Mizue, 1644 Fillmore street, stock $5000, insurance, $4000. The shops damaged were the Rose Millinery, Samuel Greenberg, proprietor, 1640 Fillmore, smoke and water, $2000; the Trunk Shop, L. J. Bernheim, manager, 1630 Fillmore street, smoke and water, $1000.

The trunk shop building is owned by W. J. Bryan. The three other stores are owned by Samuel Aldstein, whose loss will approximate $3000, partly covered by insurance.

The fire started in the rear of either 1644 or 1642 and the cause is unknown. At 3:10 o'clock Patrolman T. M. McCarthy, passed by, tried the doors, and found everything secure. Five minutes later a citizen saw the flames, rushed around to the firehouse at Post and Fillmore streets, near by, and gave the alarm.

Captain Mitchell of Chemical No. 2 responded immediately, saw the seriousness of the situation and two alarms were quickly sounded. The firemen worked heroically and succeeded in quenching the flames before they could spread to the other flimsy structures on the block. They were unable to prevent shooting sparks from gaining some headway at the trunkshop, nearly half a block distant, but prompt work saved that building from destruction.

TREMBOLES WHERE MURDER WAS DONE

Escaped Lunatic, Suspected of Killing Two, Mumbles a Prayer, Flees.

CHICAGO, July 11.—Peter Buchankow, an escaped patient from the asylum at Kankakee, yesterday dropped to his knees and mumbling a prayer, crossed himself repeatedly beside a bed in Blue Island where two women and a child were murdered with an ax on Sunday night. A man also was killed in the house. The insane man, who is suspected of the murders, then fled from the house and fought all attempts to take him back.

Buchankow was taken to Blue Island by Chicago detectives. His accomplices, strengthened by suspicions aroused by blood on his clothing and shoes and an admission he was in the suburb the night of the crime. In the lining of his clothing the police today found a letter addressed to "Mrs. Ethel Roosevelt," and dated June 21.

"Dear Mrs. Roosevelt: Accept with the greatest of pleasure your mother's invitation, extended through your father, to visit your home for the week beginning tomorrow afternoon. We shall arrive at 5:10. Very sincerely yours,

"CARTER R. MANNING."

Buchankow cannot read or write and it is thought the letter was written by another patient at Kankakee.

EATS 2 DOUGHNUTS AND BEGS RIDE IN HEARSE.

KANSAS CITY, July 11.—Benjamin Myers, 50 years old, employed by the city, was taken to the city jail today for eating two doughnuts and begging a ride in a hearse.

The driver of the hearse testified that Myers stopped the procession at Twenty-third street.

"He asked to be taken along," the driver testified, "and I gave him a lift as well as carry him to the graveyard now, because he was going there sooner or later."

The argument between the laborer and the hearse driver lasted about ten minutes. Some of the mourners became impatient finally and called the police.

sum turned over to Innes for investment amounted approximately to $10,000, according to Mrs. Nelms.

"Innes first met Mrs. Dennis in Reno, Nev., a year and a half ago," Mrs. Nelms said. "He is supposed to have been a lawyer and to have assisted Mrs. Dennis in her divorce there. Afterward they became engaged and planned to marry this summer."

A woman giving her name as Mrs. Margaret Mims or Mines, and representing herself to be Innes' aunt, was in Atlanta about June 1, according to the mother. Innes later came and remained for a short time, consulting with Mrs. Dennis about the Mexican investments.

NEVADA IS LAUNCHED LAUNCHED

Huge Craft May Hurl 1400-Pound Projectile in Battle.

QUINCY, Mass., July 11.—Turbine engines and on 1st will furnish the motive power of the 27,500-ton battleship Nevada launched today at the yards of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company.

This latest addition to the United States navy is a sister ship of the Oklahoma, launched at Camden, N. J., last March. It is said that she will be placed in commission next January. The Nevada has a length over all of 583 feet, beam 95 feet and mean draft of 25 1/2 feet, and her estimated speed is 20 1/2 knots an hour.

The arrangement of the main battery of ten 14-inch guns will be different from that on any other American battleship. Two turrets will carry two guns each and two others will have three guns each, an arrangement which it is thought will give a concentration of fire superior to that of the five two-gun turrets exemplified in the New York and the Texas.

The weight of armor is greater than that carried by any other ship previously built for the navy.

1400-POUND SHOT.

The muzzle energy of the 14-inch gun to be carried on the Nevada is about 65,000 foot tons and its shell will weigh 1400 pounds.

Secretary Daniels of the navy department, Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Governor Tasker L. Odell of Nevada and Senator Pittman of that state were the principal invited guests at the launching. The sponsor was Governor Odell's niece, Eleanor Ann Siebert, 10 years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siebert of Reno.

Another guest was Edward H. Gibson of Quincy, who was given a medal of honor a few days ago by Secretary Daniels for gallantry in the fighting at Vera Cruz. Gibson, who was wireless operator on the battleship Florida, was wounded while signaling to the fleet from a hotel room and it was found necessary to amputate one of his legs.

Navy to Have Seven Superdreadnaughts

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Battleship No. 39, christened "The Arizona" by Secretary Daniels, and her sister ship, the Pennsylvania, when completed, will be the two largest fighting craft ever built for the American navy. It was announced today. Each of these vessels will have nearly 4000 tons greater displacement than the Oklahoma and the Nevada, both of which are still in the hands of the builders.

With her sister ship, the Pennsylvania, the Arizona will be 350 feet long, 35 feet wide and one more 5-inch gun than any of her predecessors. Their 14-inch guns will number twelve, in four turrets, and they will be augmented by 22 5-inch guns. The two dreadnaughts will have a displacement of 31,400 tons each, a length of 600 feet, a beam of 37 feet and a draft of 28 feet 10 inches.

The navy department announced today that plans for battleships Nos. 40, 41 and 42 authorized by the last naval appropriation act, are rapidly nearing completion and in the course of a few weeks proposals for their construction will be sought.

DISMISSES ACTION OF PEOPLES WATER CO.

RICHMOND, July 11.—On motion of District Attorney A. B. McKenzie, the action of the Peoples Water Company against Edward de Laveaga, charged with damming San Pablo creek, was dismissed today. The water company charged that by making a bathing pool in the creek at De Laveaga's home, the latter was polluting the water served the people of Richmond.

CONVICT LIVES YEAR IN SOLDIERS' HOME; BETRAYED

DANVILLE, Ill., July 11.—While the police of the nation sought him as an escaped convict, Harry Green Wilson, veteran of year enjoyed the comforts of the State Soldiers' Home at Quincy and the National Soldiers' Home here. Then, he says, a comrade who served with him in the Illinois Artillery betrayed him, and he was arrested here last night.

The prisoner, who is 70 years old, escaped with "Slim" Rice on May 11, 1913, from the Arkansas Penitentiary, where he was under a long sentence for the murder four years ago of his son-in-law, Allan Mahard.

Wilson said he would go back to prison without a requisition.

ACTRESS IS ROBBED

Her Jewels Are Stolen From Dressing Room While She Performs.

Two diamond rings and other jewelry valued at $1000 were stolen from the dressing room of Miss Beth Taylor, an actress at Ye Liberty play house, yesterday. Miss Taylor, who lives at 2600 Richmond avenue, notified the police immediately. Investigation is being made.

According to Miss Taylor she left the jewels in the drawer of her dressing table at the theater. Afterward she left the theater without taking the jewels. On her return she found that the dressing room had been entered and her valuables stolen. Among the jewels taken were two diamond rings, a pearl ring, a diamond pendant and other set pieces.

Burglars forced an entrance to the home of Peter and Angelo Clippone, 5140 Lawton avenue, and ransacked the place. Cash amounting to $5 and two checks that had already been endorsed amounting to over $100 were stolen.

F. J. Gann, 2031 Fourth avenue, reported to the police that the rear door of his home was forced open and jewelry valued at $67 stolen. The police are investigating.

EDITOR FIELD TO OFFER DEFENSE

Pleads Permission of Colonel Goethals Against Military Disclosure Charge.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The defense of Charles K. Field, editor of the Sunset magazine, and of others accused with him of having disclosed military secrets of the United States by the publication of an illustrated article, will be that the pictures were taken and the aeroplane flight across the isthmus of Panama was made with the permission of Colonel George W. Goethals, in command of the Panama zone.

Field, Robert Fowler, an aviator; Reilly E. Scott, author of the article, and Ray Duham, a moving picture man, were arrested yesterday at the instance of the war department, acting through John W. Preston, United States attorney here. No bail was required and they were released on their own recognizance.

When the case was called today before Francis I. Krull, United States commissioner, it was continued to August 11.

Reilly Scott said he was now in the employ of the war department as an experimenter and instructor in dropping bombs from aeroplanes at the San Diego, Cal., aviation school.

"The sole purpose of the publication," said Field, "was to stimulate interest in a larger aeroplane force in the United States, which lags far behind European nations."

"Colonel Goethals not only gave us permission," said Fowler, in protesting his innocence, "but he wished us the best of luck and said he hoped the pictures would turn out well."

CHARLTON MUST WAIT YEAR FOR NEW TRIAL

COMO, July 11.—Forster Charlton, the young American who is charged with having killed his wife and thrown her body into Lake Como four years ago, and who was brought here from America for trial in the latter part of August of last year, will probably have to remain in jail for another year before his case is called.

Owing to the long delay in bringing Charlton to trial the prisoner might, under the law, have ordinarily obtained his provisional release at the expiration of six months' imprisonment before being brought into court, but the courts ruled today that the exceptional delay in his case was due to the fact that it was necessary to send to America for evidence.

For this reason the Court issued an order extending the pre-trial imprisonment of Charlton for another year.

BOGUS CHECK PASSER IDENTIFIED BY POLICE

Identified as B. D. Kimball, who is said by the authorities to have passed numerous small checks in different parts of San Francisco at Harward yesterday, was taken before Justice Frowse for arraignment today. The two little children, a girl 14 years and a boy 8 years old, are being held in the Detention House pending further investigation by the police and Sheriff Barnett. "Brennan" used his daughter in passing the checks, which resulted in the arrest here. It is said that Kimball was formerly located in Los Angeles.

SIX DEAD IN EASTERN STORM

Cloudbursts and Electrical Disturbances Spread Disaster

Lives and Property Are Destroyed in Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Six persons killed and property damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars is the toll of cloudbursts and electrical storms in the Lebanon valley and the Anthracite coal regions of Pennsylvania.

Three persons were drowned in Scranton and vicinity in a flood that followed the cloudburst; one man was killed by lightning at Wilkesbarre, and two met death at Lebanon, one when he stepped on a live wire broken during the storm and another by lightning. Overflowing of a creek in the Lebanon district flooded thousands of acres of corn and wheat, while hail that accompanied the storm destroyed much of the fruit crop.

Twenty-five men were caught in a mine 200 feet below the surface at Archbald, near Scranton, when a dam burst and flooded the mine working. They managed to escape to the surface by wading through water up to their shoulders.

Railroad and trolley traffic was tied up, bridges were swept away and hundreds of persons who had gone to the outlying sections in picnics were marooned for 15 hours.

Lightning started numerous fires in the country districts and many barns containing harvested crops and live stock were destroyed.

BOYS DRIFT ON STUMP.

A cloudburst in the mountain region east of Scranton flooded the Roaring Brook valley and the flats along the Lackawanna River in South Scranton at the confluence of the river and Roaring Brook. Every railroad was tied up and much property damage resulted. Three boys were washed away on a stump and swept down the river three miles to Taylor, where two were rescued. The third was drowned.

Two washmen on the Hoods Lake Railroad marooned eight hundred excursionists of a Sunday school picnic on the mountain top.

Many places report damage by lightning. The principal loss at Lebanon was caused by the overflowing of a creek, which ran for half an hour and washed out thousands of acres of corn and wheat. The hail also destroyed thousands of young peach and apple trees were washed away.

All railroad and electric traffic was tied up.

ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE OF FELONY EMBEZZLEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—Stanley N. Dromitzer, aged 34, of the Western Life Insurance Company, was instructed and arraigned today before Police Judge Deasy on a charge of felony embezzlement. He is alleged to have collected first payments on a number of policies, pocketed the money and fled to Los Angeles. He was brought back here following his disappearance and will have a hearing on Tuesday. The total amount of his alleged stealings is said to be $300.

SOLICITOR ARRESTED FOR ALLEGED FRAUD

Fontain Morgan, a solicitor, who was a guest for several weeks at the Hotel Oakland, and who is alleged to have left without paying his bill, was arrested in San Francisco on a charge of defrauding an innkeeper, and turned over to the Oakland police. He was arraigned today on the charge. Morgan was arrested some weeks ago on the same charge, but the complaint was drawn in a defective manner. The arrest today was on a new complaint for the same alleged offense.

UNDESIRABLES TO BE DEPORTED TO EUROPE

CHICAGO, July 11.—Charles Malbaum, and his wife, who contracted three disorderly houses in the old levee, are to be returned to Europe as undesirables. An order authorizing their deportation received yesterday by immigration officials ends litigation begun in 1908. The Malbaums vigorously resisted deportation, appealing their case to the Supreme Court, which ruled against them.

Oaks Field Sensationally Behind Geyer and Take Third Game From Hap Seals Continue to Slide, Losing Close Game to the Determined Beavers Wolves Can't Stop League Leaders; Arellanes Is Knocked Off the Hill

The Oaks made it three out of four from Venice by fielding superbly behind Jake Geyer and battling Roy Hitt at opportune moments. Zacher, Quinlan, and Ness featured the game with spectacular catches, while "Wee Willie" Menges, in addition to getting his first hit, accepted the difficult chances without error. The Oaks are showing greatly improved form this week. The score:

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—Portland continued its victorious career by defeating the Seals again, 5 to 2. Higginbotham registered his sixth straight victory and Derrick bolstered his batting average with four hits in four trips. Derrick was forced out of the game in the eighth inning after twisting his ankle. Charley Baum pitched a good game, but was given poor support. His fielding was sensational. The score:

LOS ANGELES, July 11.—For seven innings Sacramento held a 1-run lead that promised a break in Los Angeles' straight record of victories this week, but in the eighth the Angels drove Arellanes out of the box and won their fifth straight victory, 4 to 1. Until that fatal frame Arellanes pitched fine ball, but Metzger's triple started the four hits that retired the Sacramento pitcher in favor of Greco. The score:

'QUACK' DOCTORS INDICTED BY U. S.

Sixteen True Bills Are Voted by San Francisco Grand Jury.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The Federal grand jury, discharged this afternoon after doing three months' duty in the United States court, returned sixteen indictments against "quack" medicine practitioners and alleged violators of the United States mailing laws. On the indictments were placed on the secret file, the names of the accused being withheld until arrests are made on Tuesday or Wednesday. Five indictments were returned against the publishers of the names of the persons who have, it is claimed, been sending unlawful appliances through the mails. With the discharge of the grand jury today the foreman, E. P. Oliver, left down for the second time an important post office. He had been in charge of the San Francisco county grand jury that nearly 200 indictments were returned against persons who had been using the mails for the purpose of distributing the fraudulent prescriptions. At that time Oliver came in for considerable criticism and claims to have been the victim of his own friends. He is now in the hands of the Federal grand jury and has worked in behalf of the government. As during the strenuous days of the grand jury, he refused to divulge any information today when he lay down the reins of office.

MARKET SUMMARY REFLECTS EVENTS

Conflicting Conditions Imparted Weak Tone to Stock, Despite Crop Report.

NEW YORK, July 11.—Various conflicting conditions imparted a weak tone to this week's stock market. The news was more than ordinarily a mixture of good and bad, the former including the splendid crop report, the new attitude of Washington toward business, and the more hopeful views entertained by representatives of the steel industry. These were more than counterbalanced by continued delay in the Eastern freight rate decision and heavy selling of numerous low priced railway shares, including Gould issues, Rock Island, New Haven and Chesapeake and Ohio, most of which fell to lowest prices ever recorded. Selling of the Goulds was unexplained.

Investors have become discouraged with the outlook for that and affiliated properties. There was also reason to believe that the short interest accelerated the downward movement in these securities. The causes back of the selling of New Haven and Chesapeake were more apparent. Towards the end of the week high grade stock, which had been relatively steady, began to reflect the force of the movement in the obscure stocks and indications of liquidation in that part of the list was manifested.

BATHING BEACH PEST IS SCORED

Dr. Boynton Warns Against Mashing of Both Sexes.

CHICAGO, July 11.—The bathing beach was declared a good test of the "mashing" of both sexes. Dr. Boynton, who discussed "Bathing Beach Ethics" in the prelude to his evening sermon at the Woodlawn Baptist church. "Those who have essential culture are happy and at home on the bathing beach," said Dr. Boynton. "But there are two extremes to be avoided. These are those persons who are so self-conscious that they suffer every moment they are in a crowd and those who are so hilarious and careless as to become disturbers and thoroughly disgusting to self-respecting people." Following are the bathing beach ethics advocated by Dr. Boynton: Don't become a pest. Don't be rash. Don't mash. Don't dash. Don't splash. Be your own natural, happy self, safely within the bounds of the circle of friends whom you knew before you visited the bathing beach. "The happy medium is perfectly natural, and friendly association only with those folk with whom one is acquainted," Dr. Boynton continued. "The bathing beach is dangerous ground on which to meet strangers. Young people particularly should heed this warning. Because of the great democracy and freedom of the bathing beaches this warning is the more needed. Therefore do not be rash."

Getting Away From Yesterday

TODAY we must abandon some of yesterday's methods. New ideas, new methods, new friends must be sought today. The battle for a bigger, better, busier business goes on and on. ¶ You install new and better machines, you are seeking more efficient employees, you are constantly improving your business here and there; your capacity is greater, you need more business; now, why not employ a printer who can give you new ideas; a creative, constructive printer who can put a "KICK" and a "PUNCH" into your booklet, folder, circular, letterhead or card. These silent messengers represent you or misrepresent you. Asking to see samples of what the other fellow had printed is taking advantage of his originality. ¶ Let us help you to originate and blaze the trail of your representative with printed matter of the right sort and watch the steady increase of your business. ¶ This department of complete service we now call

48-YEAR-OLD SUIT
DUG UP; DISMISSED*Complaint Lifted From Dusty
Files to Clear Court Record.

SACRAMENTO, July 11.—Dug from the dusty depths of the files in the county clerk's office, the complaint of a suit filed forty-eight years ago and which has been pending since that time, was taken before Superior Judge Peter J. Shields yesterday and dismissed.

The document, printed in ink on common letter paper, is tattered and the ink and paper discolored with age. The suit was dismissed on request.

city for a San Francisco law firm in order to clear up a record.

The action reads as follows: "Newmark & Bro., vs. Crosley & Smith, filed August 2, 1866; Moore & Alexander, attorneys for plaintiff." The suit was brought by Newmark Brothers, a large clothing firm at Fifth and J streets, Sacramento, against Crosley & Smith, a smaller clothing firm, for $423.50, on a debt due for a bill of goods. Summons were issued but never returned and the suit slept quietly on file for forty-eight years.

J. K. Alexander, one of the attorneys for the plaintiff, was a young lawyer in this city at the time and partner of George P. Moore. Alexander was a member of the last legislature and resides in Sacramento.

SENATOR NORRIS CELEBRATES.
WASHINGTON, July 11.—Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska today celebrated his 53d birthday anniversary. He was born in Sandusky county, Ohio.

BAD OPERATION
AVOIDED*By Timely Use of Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Sowers' Own Statement.
Hodgdon, Maine.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Maine.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

MISTAKEN FOR DEER; KILLED*San Francisco Silversmith Shot to Death While Camping on Coast.

Monterey, July 11.—James A. Kerr was accidentally shot and killed last Thursday evening near Stevenson's canyon, about forty miles south of this city, by Jack Gibney, who mistook him for a deer. Gibney was a silversmith by trade, and was on a hunting trip in company with three friends, Jack Gibney, Salomon and Frank Smith, all of San Francisco, and had been designated as cook for the party. While preparing a meal in the camp Gibney mistook him for the animal and fired at him. The bullet struck Gibney in the chest and he died before he could be taken to a hospital.

Sacramento, July 11.—A three-minute ride in the "lovers' tub" of a merry-go-round at Oak Park proved fatal for Thomas Glenn of this city. Glenn died in a hospital. An autopsy showed he had died from heart failure, probably brought on by the excitement of his ride.

Palo Alto, July 11.—The city treasurer of Palo Alto has been authorized to sell the $100,000 bond issue of 1912 at not less than par. The issue bears 5 percent interest. When the bonds were first offered for sale, no bids were received. The completion of the new municipal building and other city utilities has necessitated the sale of these bonds.

Los Angeles, July 11.—Caught in the rapidly-moving belt in his own pumping plant, near Lordsburg, J. L. Minnick, aged 41, a farmer, was literally blown to death.

Sacramento, July 11.—The first grapes to be shipped from Northern California were sent out yesterday from the Vacaville section.

Dixon, July 11.—For the second time, a majority of the Town Board has refused the Sacramento Valley Electric Railway a franchise to operate through the town. The board refused to grant an order by the State Railroad Commission to cross the Southern Pacific right of way by a subway.

Santa Cruz, July 11.—The cruiser Marbled with the northern division of the California Naval Militia arrived in the port yesterday afternoon. Tonight the local division will come ashore and the Marbled leaves for San Francisco 5 o'clock tomorrow.

Fresno, July 11.—In order to stop the shipment of unripe and sour green grapes from California, and to assure the grape growers of this state that this State can produce a standardized agreement was signed yesterday between the California Green Fruit Association and the California Fruit Growers' Association. The agreement was signed by the following: California Fruit Growers' Association, Pioneer Fruit Company, Producers' Fruit Company, Pacific Fruit Exchange, California Fruit Growers' Association, Fresno Fruit Company, Files Brokerage Company, Denny Company and A. Brongre. Grapes must show 1 per cent sugar.

Stockton, July 11.—C. O. Carr, a prosperous farmer arrested at San Miguel recently on a charge of failure to pay his taxes, was liberated here yesterday when he agreed in court to pay his wife $500 at once and $25 a month thereafter. According to figures supplied by the County Clerk, the husband owes her $1400 alimony. The couple were divorced five years ago.

Carr explained to Judge Plummer that he had been ill and that reason had been unable to support his family.

Petaluma, July 11.—George P. Murphy, former secretary of the Petaluma Socialist Club, wanted on a charge of appropriating the funds of the Socialist Club for his own use, and who has evaded the officers for weeks, was arrested in Vallejo and will be brought to this city for trial.

DANISH KING ENABLES REFORM IN PARLIAMENT

COPENHAGEN, July 11.—The election for the upper house of the Danish parliament, held yesterday resulted in the return of twenty members of the Right. Five less than before dissolution. Five Free Conservatives, twenty members of the Left, five Radicals and four Socialists.

Of the twelve members nominated by the king nine are supporters of the government bill for the amendment of the constitution on a Democratic basis. The passage of which is now assured. In the upper house, as it is now constituted, this bill has thirty-eight supporters and twenty-eight opponents.

The upper house of the Danish parliament was dissolved early in June because of the deadlock over the constitutional amendment bill, which abolishes all property qualifications for electors of members of that body and takes away from the crown its right to nominate twelve members of that chamber. The twelve members of the house appointed by the king were not included in the decree of dissolution.

DOZEN COUNTRIES IN TOWN PLANNING CONGRESS

LONDON, July 11.—Experts on town planning and housing reform from a dozen countries met here today for the first congress of the International Garden Cities and Town Planning Association, to which are affiliated most of the important housing and town planning bodies of the world. The countries represented were Great Britain, United States, Austria, Canada, France, Germany, Italy, Poland, Russia, Spain, Denmark and Holland. The first session is being held at the Hampstead Garden Suburb, in South-west London, but to enable the delegates to inspect the garden cities of which England is the home, the remaining sessions will be held at Birmingham, Port Sunlight, Liverpool and Letchworth successively. Housing by municipal authorities, by public utility societies and by private individuals and companies will also be inspected and the principal town planning schemes recently put forward in various countries will be explained by the authors.

FURMER CANAL ENGINEER
EN ROUTE TO PANAMA

NEW YORK, July 11.—Philippe Bunau-Varilla, the French engineer, who was director general of the old French Panama canal, arrived yesterday from Paris on his way to Panama. Mr. Bunau-Varilla explained that the purpose of his visit was to inspect the work and see a ship pass through the locks.

Out for Assembly
Cribbins in Race*W. W. CRIBBINS.

W. W. Cribbins has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for assemblyman in the Thirty-sixth assembly district at the August primaries.

Mr. Cribbins is a popular and enthusiastic young man. He has been connected with every movement in Oakland for several years that had as its object the making of Oakland a greater and better city.

In an interview this morning Mr. Cribbins said:

"I have never had the slightest desire to attain any political honors, but when it goes so that I could not go down Broadway or get onto a street car without being urged to run for the assembly, I made up my mind to enter the race with a determination to win. You ask me what will I do if elected to the assembly. Well, there are many things to do. First of all I am for the bootblack, and I understand the needs of the common people. I believe in enforcing those laws that are preventing the eastern and European capitalists from coming into California to build factories and give employment to thousands of working men and women. To California we have cheap fuel, excellent railroad and shipping facilities. We have everything, and there is every reason why the eastern manufacturer with eastern money should be persuaded to locate his mills here in California. I have heard from what the big business men tell me they need a Philadelphia lawyer to answer the questions that are being fired at them day after day by cheap lobbying investors of corporations that are not capable of running a business of their own. Yet they tell the big business man how he should conduct his affairs."

EXPLOITING WORKERS.

"What can a man know about regulating corporations whose knowledge of the corporation is as great as work and extremely limited? Then, on the other hand, what does the man know about the life of the everyday working people, whose only knowledge is to get them to work as cheaply as possible? Yet that is exactly the position of most of the men elected to the assembly. They don't care what the laws mean and in fact they don't know what the laws mean and what they feel will be the laws. They are interested in their pay and what they will bring them afterwards. If I am elected, I am going to be on the job every minute of the day to see that the laws are enforced and that a lot of trash laws are not enacted during the next session of the legislature."

"I am for the regulation of the corporations, of course, but in this way. If a man has a fever and the doctor gives him a little quinine, it helps the patient, but give him too much, and he will be driven crazy. In fact he will be killed. That's my position. I don't believe in overdoing and injuring the possibility of letting a man make a success of his business, especially so when that man feeds thousands of little mouths through the pay envelope."

With the announcement of Mr. Cribbins that he is in the race to win, there is no question about things being made lively in his district.

FIREFIGHTERS TO SHOW
SKILL AT CONVENTION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—As a preliminary event of the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Fire Chiefs at Vancouver, B. C., fire fighters from every section of the Pacific coast will meet in San Francisco August 23, and will demonstrate the largest and most varied collection of fire fighting apparatus ever assembled. The demonstration will be on the grounds of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, and the fully completed fire protection to be the most remarkable system of its kind ever installed, will be shown in action. The Vancouver convention will be held from September 1 to 4.

NAVAL MILITIA MAKES MARKSMANSHIP RECORD

SANTA CRUZ, July 11.—Two Santa Cruz naval militia men established new California records for marksmanship during this year's cruise of the organization. It was learned when the cruiser Marbled arrived late yesterday from Southern California with the volunteer sailors aboard, D. McElderry, a seaman, established a record of four hits in 23 seconds with a three-pounder, and Boatswain's Mate A. Kearney made a new record with three hits in the same length of time with a four-inch gun. The work was an eight-foot target, four miles away, and the shots were fired while the Marbled was under way.

MORE SPEED BURNERS ARRESTED BY POLICE

The police last night arrested six speed burners at Forty-ninth and Telegraph. Those arrested were Eugene C. Holmes, manager; Marshall Steele, tailor; M. J. Burt, Charles Gilman, an auto dealer, and John Hyde, a rancher.

The arresting posse was composed of Sergeant Byrne, Corporal Brock and Patrolmen Deardoff and J. O'Connell.

JEWS WILL HONOR
MEMORY OF HERZL*Agudath Zion to Hold Memorial Services for Apostle of Zionism.

On Tuesday, July 14, the Agudath Zion of San Francisco will hold a Herzl memorial at Temple Beth Israel, Geary street, near Fillmore.

The Herzl memorial is a yearly tribute which the Agudath Zion of San Francisco makes to the memory of the illustrious author and Jewish nationalist, the late Theodor Herzl. A literary and musical program will be rendered on this occasion, the following will participate: Abelson, Epstein, Miss Ida...

Rev. Dr. Rudolph I. Coffee, G. C. Ringolsky, Esq., Miss Beale Greenberg.

Theodor Herzl was born in Budapest, May 2, 1860, and died at Ellich, July 3, 1904. He studied law for some time, but his inclinations led him to become literary editor of the Neue Freie Presse. He contributed to many publications, wrote plays, essays and stories.

HOME IN PALESTINE.

He had always deplored the conditions which caused the persecution of his Jewish brethren, and became deeply concerned in finding a solution for the Jewish problem in Europe. In 1896 he wrote "The Jewish State," advocating the restoration of Palestine to the Jews. This created wide comment and stirred the world to such an extent that one year after his death, the first Jewish Congress was convened in finding a solution for the Jewish problem in Europe. In 1896 he wrote "The Jewish State," advocating the restoration of Palestine to the Jews. This created wide comment and stirred the world to such an extent that one year after his death, the first Jewish Congress was convened in finding a solution for the Jewish problem in Europe.

Following out his plans, Dr. Herzl interviewed the most distinguished and powerful people in Europe and pleaded with them for the cause. Among those who received him were the Sultan of Turkey, the Pope of Rome, the Czar of Russia and other rulers. All were favorably impressed with the prospect of turning Palestine into an autonomous Jewish state.

DEATH WAS BLOW.

The premature death of Theodor Herzl was a heavy blow to the movement which he originated, but did not halt its progress. This was due to the fact that his work was of unusual interest and the public is cordially invited to attend.

The memorial exercises are in charge of the following committees: The reception committee consists of Miss S. L. Lusk, chairman; Miss Annie Cohen, Miss E. Markowitz, Miss S. R. Nathan, Miss P. Nathan, L. Berman, A. Berman, J. Pavis; the arrangement committee consists of Abelson Epstein, chairman; S. Jaffee, D. Marlow, S. Kahn, S. Herzog, M. Kaplan, Miss S. Lusk, Miss E. Markowitz, Miss S. R. Nathan, Miss P. Nathan and Mrs. Gersovitz.

KILLS WOMAN AND WOUNDS 3 OTHERS*Missourian Slays Mother-in-Law in Attempt to Recover Child.

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—Edward Ellsbrook last night shot and killed his mother-in-law and then shot his wife, his father-in-law and a visitor at their home. He also fired at his sister-in-law, but missed her, and attempted to shoot his brother-in-law, but had run short of bullets. Ellsbrook escaped.

The dead: Mrs. Josephine Farabee.

Injured: James Farabee, shot in back; bullet lodged in region of heart; Mrs. Clara Ellsbrook, shot in left shoulder; Fred Warkover, shot in right arm.

Ellsbrook and his wife had separated and he had called at the home of her parents and found the family sitting on the porch. Ellsbrook attempted to get possession of his two-year-old daughter but his wife aided by her relatives, prevented him from fleeing with the little girl. Ellsbrook dropped the child and drawing a revolver began shooting. When his weapon was emptied he escaped.

ALLEGED OPIUM RING

CHICAGO, July 11.—Six Chinese were indicted here yesterday on charges of manufacturing opium for smoking. Their indictment is the beginning of the government's prosecution of an alleged opium combine, involving wealthy Orientals, which is believed to have its headquarters in this city.

The minimum penalty for the offense charged is a fine of $10,000, five years' imprisonment, or both.

EX-POLICEMAN HELD ON CHARGE OF FORGERY

PHILADELPHIA, July 11.—Searching through a trunk which belonged to Earnest Parks and a woman, who says she is Mrs. Freda Dennison, both held on a charge of passing bogus checks and looking large hotels of silver and other articles, detectives yesterday found a badge upon which was engraved "L. A. T. Special Deputy, H 996 Constable."

"It belongs to Mrs. Dennison. She was a policeman in Los Angeles before I met her," Parks said.

He insisted that Mrs. Dennison was one of the first policemen appointed to serve in Los Angeles.

Detectives also learned that Mrs. Dennison had been a hairdresser and that she had taken a place in Los Angeles.

Checkbooks with many stubs missing were found belonging to Banco Nacional de Cuba, Havana; Citizen's Trust and Savings Bank, Los Angeles; Colonial Trust Company, this city; New National Bank, Savannah, Ga., and the Fidelity Trust Company, Portland, Me. In addition there were alleged counterfeit certification stamps of rubber for every one of the banks named.

MAN TRIPS ON LUMBER AND FRACTURES SKULL

SAN MATEO, July 11.—Tom Lorton, 26-year-old member of a well-known Burlingame family, was discovered lying in a semi-conscious condition at the foot of a lumber pile near the new City Hall building at an early hour yesterday morning. Officers E. K. Kline and Maurice Sheehan made the discovery and removed Lorton to the Red Cross Hospital, where it is believed by internes that his skull is fractured. Little hope is held for his recovery.

The police believe that Lorton tripped on the lumber.

INDOOR MOTOR CLUB MAKES CHANGE OF NAME

The Indoor Motor Club, which has been meeting at the Moose Club every Tuesday night, has been changed to the Tuesday Night Club, following a heated discussion of the members at a special meeting last night. The club was originally started by motor enthusiasts and they became experts on the theoretical way of running an automobile and imbibed much knowledge on automobiles, tires, auto accessories, good roads and kindred subjects. The members were not sufficiently wealthy to buy cars of their own, but when a number of the members at last secured cars of their own they neglected the club and have not been near the clubhouse since.

To keep the other members it has been decided to change the name and other matters will be discussed on the meeting nights. A heavy fine will be imposed on any member who mentions the word automobile. The officers of the club are: President, J. Treager; secretary, Myron Lawrence; treasurer, N. J. Berquist; board of trustees, Norman Campbell, H. Goetz and Edward Smith.

CHICAGO CHAMPIONS IN MATCH WITH PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., July 11.—Aquatic fans of Portland are promised one of the finest exhibitions of water sports ever seen here tonight when the Chicago Amateur Athletic Club swimming team, winners of the 1914 national honors, competes with a team from the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club of Portland. The events will be 100, 200, 400, and 800 yard swims and fancy diving. The Chicago team is on a tour of the West and Middle West. Norman Ross of the Multnomah Club, the Pacific Coast 200, 500 and 800 yard outdoor champion, will be one of the principal entrants against the Eastern team.

ROBLIN'S RE-ELECTION IN MANITOBA ASSURED

WINNIPEG, Man., July 11.—Although returns from yesterday's general provincial election were not complete early today, the re-election of the government of Sir Redmond Roblin and a Conservative, or government legislature, seemed assured.

Outlying communities are slow in reporting results, and it is believed the exact strength of the Conservative party in the legislature will not be known for a day or two.

Returns up to early today gave the government forces 23 of the 45 seats and the Progressives, or Liberals 21, with the remaining two still in doubt.

Unreachable Neighbors

TWO neighbors on the same street who are not connected with the same telephone system are practically far apart.

The telephone users in the community who can be reached by one are inaccessible to the other.

To reach them all means the inconvenience and added expense of two telephones.

A community gets the best service from one good telephone system which is linked up by toll and long distance lines with the rest of the country.
